Moscow Reports Its Forces Are Smashing German Offensive.

BULLETIN

MOSCOW—(AP)—The Russian army reported today that the German 39th tank corps, 11 other divisions and 13 regiments have been routed on the western and southwestern sectors of the front and that the situation again had become stable and quiet.

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN — Red army forces trapped in the southern Ukraine by the advance of the German army to the Black Sea are preparing an attempt to escape by sea, the German high command reported today and the Luftwaffe is pounding their transports anchored along the coast.

German and Rumanian forces have reached the sea between the great Soviet port of Odessa and the Bug estuary in a "continuous relentless pursuit in the Ukraine," the war bulletin from Adolf Hitler's headquarters said.

"The air force yesterday struck severe blows against transports held in readiness for the flight of Soviet troops in the coastal areas off Odessa and Nikolaev," it went on.

"Two transports totaling 14,000 tons were destroyed and five ad-

Here are the principal figures in the dramatic meeting on the "blue waters" of the Atlantic, at which heads of the United States and British governments pledged the "destruction of Nazism" and outlined an eight-point peace program. At right, President Roosevelt aboard the yacht Potomac, aboard which he sailed from New England for the meeting with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill (top left.) Churchill was accompanied by a large party which included Minister of Supply Lord Beaverbrook (left center) who will come on to Washington for further conferences on the expediting of war supplies from the United States to both Britain and Russia. Lower left is Harry Hopkins, U. S. lease-lend administrator. It was not stated officially that Hopkins was present at the historic meeting but it was assumed that he was, since he had recently been in Moscow and has vital information concerning Russian war supplies and strength.

Senate Committee Charges Mismanagement, Lack of Planning.

LISTS ELEVEN DEFECTS

Accuses War Department of Failure To Meet Emergency.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The special senate committee investigating the defense organization reported to congress today that the army's camp construction program showed mismanagement, lack of planning and "unduly and unnecessarily high" costs.

The report, filed in the senate by Sen. Truman (D.) Mo., chairman of the committee, was based on an investigation of nine army camps and the estimated $1,000,000,000 cantonment program. The committee listed what it termed 11 defects in the army's construction planning, including:

". . . Lack of initial plans, lack of adequate organization both for planning and construction due to peace time restrictions on funds, inexperience on temporary construction, lack of experience on the part of the war department, and the use of a cost plus a fixed fee arrangement on most contracts.

In accusing the war department of failure in planning to meet the camp construction emergency, the committee said:

"The war department's estimates did not include an allowance to pay for the namby-pamby atti-

Historic Meeting at Sea Results In Agreement on 8 Steps After War's End

Here's Text On Epochal Sea Meeting

WASHINGTON—The following is the text of the statement signed by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill concerning their meeting at sea:

(By International News Service)

"The president of the United States and the prime minister, Mr. Churchill, representing His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom, have met at sea.

"They have been accompanied by officials of their two governments, including high ranking officers of their military, naval and air services.

"The whole problem of the supply of munitions of war, as provided by the lease-lend act, for the armed forces of the United States and for those countries actively engaged in resisting aggression has been further examined.

"Lord Beaverbrook, the minister of supply of the British government, has joined in these conferences. He is going to proceed to Washington to discuss further details with appropriate officials of the United States government.

"These conferences will also cover the supply problems of the Soviet Union.

"The president and the prime minister have had several conferences. They have considered the dangers to world civilization arising from the policies of military domination by conquest upon which the Hitlerite government of Germany and other governments associated therewith have embarked, and have made clear the stress (the latter word was believed by the White House to have been garbled in transmission and it was thought to mean "steps") which their countries are respectively taking for their safety in the face of these dangers.

"They have agreed upon the following joint declaration:

"Joint declaration of the president of the United States of America and the prime minister, Mr. Churchill, representing His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom, being met together,

Shun Territorial Aspirations, Promise Free Selection of Government By All Nations; Freedom of Seas And Access to Raw Materials.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Churchill, in a series of historic conferences at sea, have agreed on eight-point peace aims that they hope will prevail "after the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny."

Also, it was announced today, they examined ways to get a greater flow of American munitions to Britain and her allies, notably Russia. The premier and war leader of Russia, Josef V. Stalin, reportedly was advised of the joint U. S.-British declarations in a personal message from Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill.

The two leaders, accompanied by their ranking military, naval and air chieftains to a secret rendezvous somewhere in the Atlantic, drafted a joint declaration of policy, embodying the eight peace aims—including "disarmament" of the Axis powers after the war is over.

Announcement of the dramatic meeting on the high seas—symbol of American and British freedom—was made simultaneously in Washington, London and Ottawa, ending a mystery which had kept the world guessing for more than a week.

In addition to disarmament of aggressors, the U. S.-British peace aims proclaimed to the world by Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill featured:

Opposition to forceful territorial conquest;

Guarantees of freedom of the seas;

"Improved labor standards, economic advancement and social security";

Access for all, "victor or vanquished," to world trade and raw materials.

Restoration of their chosen forms of government to people "who have been forcibly deprived of them";

Neither Britain nor the United States seek "aggrandizement, territorial or other";

Freedom for all from "fear and want."

The joint declaration, spurning by implication any future Axis peace offer which does not entail complete capitulation to Britain and her allies, contained no mention of any American military action or of strategy which might be followed by the United States in the battle of the Atlantic or on other fronts.

The announcement of the meeting declared that the question of American war-aid under the lease-lend act had been discussed and that Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill had "considered the dangers to world civilization arising from the policies of military domination by conquest upon which the Hitlerite government of Germany and other governments associated therewith have embarked."

In this connection, the statement said, the two leaders made clear the steps "which their countries are respectively taking for their safety in the face of these dangers."

Other than the mention of "Germany" the Roosevelt-

Nazis Give Meeting One Sentence

BERLIN—(AP)—The official news agency DNB, soon after Clement Attlee's broadcast of the meeting between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, distributed this single sentence under a New York dateline:

"The White House announced officially that Roosevelt and Churchill have met secretly on the high sea and agreed on a common declaration of war aims."

Reds Welcome U.S.-British Stand

LONDON—(INS)—The Anglo-American declaration of peace aims was warmly welcomed by the Soviet embassy in London today. References of aid to the Soviet Union are chiefly appreciated, a spokesman said.

Rush Ends as New Marriage License Law Takes Effect

The rush for marriage licenses to beat the new law requiring physical examinations for applicants dwindled to one application yesterday in Richland county as the examination-free period expired.

The license bureau in county probate court handled seven applications Tuesday and four Monday. So far this month, 45 couples have applied for licenses, about twice the usual number. Some Ohio cities reported a much greater increase.

The state law does not become effective until next Monday, but the five-day waiting period in Ohio made it imperative for courts to start requiring examinations with yesterday's applications for licenses.

Couples who apply for licenses now must present doctor's certificates showing they are free from syphilis in communicable form before the licenses will be issued.

The cost of licenses also will be doubled when the new law becomes effective Monday, increasing from $1 to $2. With the added cost of physical examinations ranging from $3 to $10, the cost of getting married will be at least $5, exclusive of the pastor's fee, as compared with the former $1 minimum.

HIT BY BULLETS

Japan's Vice Premier Fired on By Assailant.

TOKYO — (By Telephone to New York)—(AP)—Baron Kuchiro Hiranuma, 75-year-old vice premier and minister without portfolio, was struck in the chest and jaw this morning by pistol bullets fired by a 33-year-old assailant. Hiranuma's condition was reported as serious.

Hiranuma has been regarded as a mainstay of the cabinet of Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye and definitely a moderating influence.

Observers said, therefore, that the fact that such an attack should occur was not considered a good sign in a time of tense international relations.

There was no immediate report, however, on the motive of the baron's assailant.

The attacker was identified as Naohiko Nishiyama, 33.

Farmers From All Sections of Ohio Meet Here To Organize Protest on Wheat Plan.

Girding for a new fight against the government AAA wheat marketing quotas and 49-cent penalty, 125 aroused farmer delegates from all sections of Ohio formed the Ohio Marketing Quota Protest association in Mansfield yesterday and asked congress to repeal the marketing law and refund penalties already paid by farmers.

The group held afternoon and evening sessions in the John Simpson junior high school auditorium with Edward H. Kennedy, Washington, D. C., vice president of the National Farmers' guild as the principal speaker.

Russell T. Kiko of Stark county was elected chairman of the new state association after presiding as temporary chairman during the afternoon meeting. END WALKOUT

Curtiss-Wright Strikers Vote To Return To Work.

CALDWELL, N. J.—(AP)—Striking members of an AFL machinists union voted unanimously today to end their walkout at the propeller plant of the Curtiss-Wright corporation which has $100,000,000 in defense orders.

The members of Lodge 703, International Association of Machinists, at a special meeting voted to accept recommendations by their delegates to a national defense mediation board conference in Washington yesterday that it would be best to end the strike. The delegates told them they were "not gaining anything by staying out."

The strike started Friday as an unauthorized demonstration by a group of welders and later was taken over by the AFL union.

MEETS TODAY

Election Board Expected To Study New Registrations.

With a new state law giving counties the right to register all voters effective today, the Richland county election board is expected to discuss extension of the county's registration system when it meets late this afternoon.

The board will meet primarily, however, to examine ballots which were held out of the primary count Tuesday night because of incorrect markings and to check the tabulations.

Under the old registration system, only Mansfield voters were required to register. The Richland county board is not expected to require county-wide registration, but the board has considered the registration of Madison township voters due to the rapidly increasing population in Mansfield suburban districts.

Although the new registration law goes into effect today, only Trumbull county in northeastern Ohio, has indicated it will set up county-wide registration, the secretary of state's office reported.

Uniforms Arrive, City's New Traffic Squad Goes on Duty

Mansfield will see the city's new traffic squad in action tomorrow for the first time. Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals announced today that uniforms for the five members will be brought from Columbus today and that the squad will go on street duty tomorrow at 9 a. m.

Traffic squad members have been unable to do regular traffic work for the past two weeks because a state law forbids their working without uniforms. School sessions, bicycle registrations and general traffic study have taken up most of their time since they went on duty Aug. 1.

Yesterday, accompanied by Boals, the squad studied traffic conditions at Main street intersections.

Boals said that a count was made of all cars going through intersections and those turning right or left. The commissioner said the figures were being compiled to study the possibility of eliminating unnecessary left turns at the intersections.

Serving on the squad with Boals will be two veteran traffic men, Patrolmen Clare Kyler and Howard Schuck, and the five new policemen, Robert Robnolte, Arthur Conrady, Richard Hecht, Roeliff Hout and Robert Garver.

Boals has announced that a definite new traffic program will be put into operation by the new squad. A more complete traffic report, adopted on the recomendation of the National Safey council, will be used after September 1, Boals announced.

Push for Final Approval on Army Extension Bill Today

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—In an optimistic frame of mind, senate administration leaders sought final congressional action today on the army service extension bill so that it could be sent to the White House by mid-afternoon.

Foes of the controversy-laden legislation virtually tossed in the sponge, conceding that they could do nothing more to forestall enactment.

The strategy was to have the senate accept, in lieu of its own previously-approved measure, the version which the house passed by the hair breadth margin of one vote in a dramatic 203-to-202 roll call Tuesday night.

Only very minor differences distinguish house and senate drafts of the bill. The main provisions are the same. Both provide an additional 18 months of service for selectees, national guardsmen, reservists and enlisted regulars. Both likewise would grant a $10 a month pay boost to all after their first year of service.

Normally, the procedure would be to send the bill to a joint conference committee of the two chambers to compromise the differences. However, that would give the house another chance to vote on the bill when the compromise version came up for approval —and administration supporters were not enthusiastic for that after their narrow original victory. On the other hand, if the senate agrees to the changes, it will obviate the need for any conference compromise.

Japan Not Mentioned, But Japs See That as Significant

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—The United States is now pledged to the reconstruction of post-war Europe and the support of the Russian-British cause on every front, informed British sources said today in reviewing the jointly-issued Roosevelt-Churchill statement.

Things left unsaid in the statement are regarded as fully important as those of the eight-point joint declaration.

Omission of reference to Japan "implies that Japan was one of the main points of discussion," a Japanese diplomat admitted.

British informant said the meeting was at Mr. Roosevelt's invitation.

The Japanese source said that the tempo of the Japanese advance in South Asia was slowed even as rumors of the historic meeting between the British and American leaders sped around the warring world.

The Roosevelt-Churchill conferences, which were attended by ranking officials and military, naval and air experts of both countries, were reliably reported to have lasted at least two or three days.

But neither the time nor the place of the meeting was disclosed here immediately.

STATES URGED TO SAFEGUARD WATER RIGHTS

Governor of Colorado Backs Campaign Against Federal Control.

DENVER.—(U.P.)—Gov. Ralph L. Carr of Colorado has started a new offensive in his self-styled "bloodless civil war" against proposals to give the federal government control over waters of western rivers.

The new objective of the fiery Republican water expert is settlement out of court of years-old disputes between the states of the semi-arid west over division of river water for irrigation.

The first skirmish was a success. The governors of Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska have approved a compact dividing the waters of the Republican river and a threatened court battle has been avoided.

Gov. Carr will meet with Gov. Leon C. Phillips of Oklahoma in an attempt to settle the question of dividing Arkansas river waters. Efforts are being made to settle out of court the lengthy controversy over waters of the North Platte river involving the states of Colorado and Wyoming on one side and Nebraska on the other.

Gov. Carr said peaceful settlement of the disputes was "advisable" because the federal government has intervened in the North Platte suit, before the U. S. supreme court, and is asserting control over all unappropriated waters.

"We must settle our disputes over water among ourselves," the Colorado governor said. "The longer these matters pend before the U. S. supreme court and the longer we fight the greater are the chances of federal control over our biggest asset — irrigation water."

Gov. Carr began his one-man "civil war" when the Democratic delegation from Arkansas introduced in congress a plan for creation of an Arkansas Valley Authority similar to the TVA "power yardstick."

He charged in a series of speeches—one of them as far afield as San Jose, Cal.—that the proposal to develop power on the Arkansas river was a direct invasion of state's rights. He declared that the AVA plan would strip the west of its irrigation rights and would jeopardize the liberty of all men from the Mississippi to the Pacific, where irrigation ditches are lifelines.

"You men of the West have been driven to the verge of a bloodless civil war," he declared on one occasion.

The governor called a conference of 17 western states which went on record as opposed to creation of any more "power yardsticks." A committee named by the conference drafted an alternative plan, designed to protect irrigation rights, which has been placed before congress.

The attempt to end river disputes out of court is "just another front in the same war to protect our water rights," Gov. Carr declared. "We've only begun to fight."

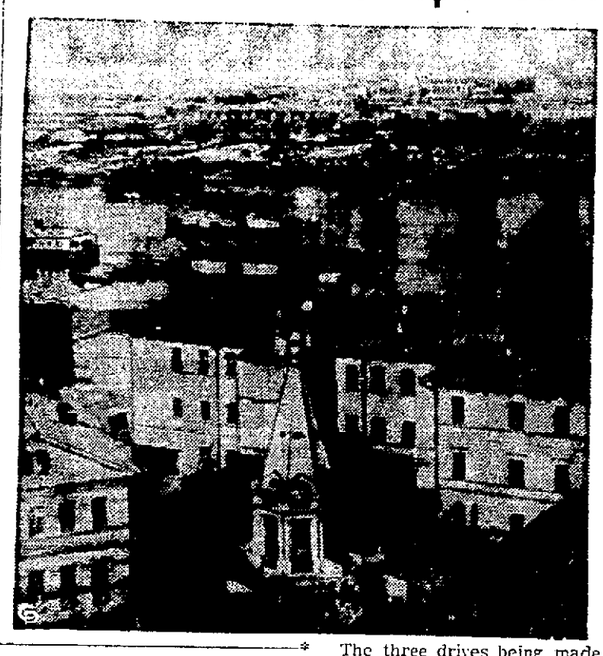
Widow Puts On New Version of Sit-Down Strike

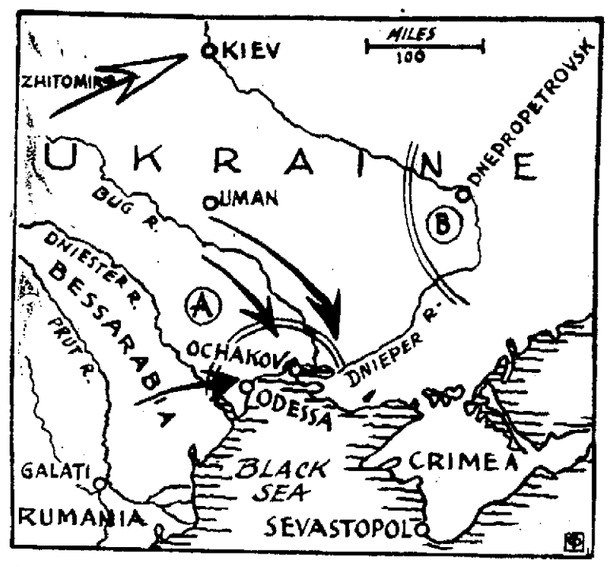
YONKERS, N. Y.—(INS)—Mrs. Maybelle Newbrand, widow of a Yonkers patrolman killed several years ago in an auto accident, has a new version of the sit-down strike.

Mrs. Newbrand shed part of her clothing, donned a bathrobe and seated herself in a chair near a window in the City Manager's office, asserting she would stay there until the city boosted her pension income from $600 to $1,500 a year. She claimed her husband had been killed in the line of duty and thus she was entitled to the larger pension.

When a secretary finally convinced Mrs. Newbrand the city manager was home ill, she ended her sit-down strike and returned home.

Red Armies Reported Retreating In Odessa Area





The three drives being made by German armies on the Russian port of Odessa, above, are indicated by arrows (A). German sources claim that their armies now encircle the city, making any further retreat by the Red forces impossible, except across the Black sea. Awaiting a possible chance to counter attack against the onrushing Nazis are Russian troops, reportedly being held in reserve east of the Dnieper river (B).

Fisherman Pulls Out An Alligator After A Struggle

DALLAS, Tex.—(INS)—This isn't exactly a fish story but—

The guy who caught the lion by the tail and couldn't let go has nothing on Ray Reeder, Dallasite, on a Sunday morning fishing excursion at nearby Bachman's Lake.

Near the dam of the lake Reeder expertly made a perfect cast and tensed for a strike. He got it. A six-foot alligator which had no business in this inland lake came writhing to the surface with the surprised Reeder's hook in its right rear foot.

After a moment's hesitation, the fisherman enthusiastically battled the reptile but wouldn't land it. Fred Reeder, Ray's brother, came to his assistance and tossed a hook into the 'gator. Two hours later the catch was still in the water. A third angler came along and put his hook in the quarry.

Between the three of them they managed to pull the alligator close enough to shore for Ray to wade in and fasten a rope around its horny snout and pull it in.

FDR, Churchill Map 8-Ply Peace Program

Churchill declaration "on which they base their hopes for a better future for the world," did not name the Axis nations.

To further the immediate problems of the prosecution of the war, it was disclosed that Lord Beaverbrook, one of the British conferees, would proceed to Washington for further talks with American officials. He presumably will accompany Mr. Roosevelt back to the capital.

The announcement said that Beaverbrook, who is British minister of supply, also would talk over the "supply problems of the Soviet Union."

Only Mr. Roosevelt, Churchill and Beaverbrook were officially identified among the conferees.

But it was assumed that American lease-lend Administrator Harry Hopkins was present at the meetings and that he, too, would return to Washington to help speed the tempo of U. S. war-aid. Prior to the Churchill-Roosevelt meeting, Hopkins had talked over Russian-aid problems with Premier Stalin in Moscow.

The president is still at sea, but is unofficially expected back here this week-end.

American military leaders believed to have been present at Roosevelt-Churchill meetings were Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the U. S. army: Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the U. S. army air forces: Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations: Admiral Ernest J. King, commander of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, and Maj. Gen. James H. Burns, Hopkins' right-hand man in the lease-lend agency.

With the exception of King, these high ranking officials disappeared from Washington coincident with the cruise of the presidential yacht Potomac, and have not been reported since.

King met the president at sea, the first official bulletin from the Potomac said on Aug. 5. As commander of the Atlantic fleet, King is in direct command of the units most directly engaged in active operations designed to help the British win the war.

Ships of his command are patrolling the route to Iceland and other areas in the Atlantic. The U. S. forces that have occupied Iceland are under his command also.

Presence of high army and naval men at the conference indicated that the military situation had been canvassed, possibly including future disposition of forces.

The discussions, it was apparent, included the problem of Japan in the Far East. Britain, the United States, Australia, China and the Dutch East Indies have been cooperating closely in anti-Japanese moves of an economic nature.

The White House announcement of the meeting confirmed for the first time that Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill had met at sea for "several conferences," but the exact location of the meetings was not disclosed.

On the immediate business of the prosecution of the war "the whole problem of the supply of munitions of war, as provided by the lease-lend act, for the armed forces of the United States and for those countries actively engaged in resisting aggression," was further examined at the historic meeting on the seas.

"Lord Beaverbrook, the minister of supply of the British government, has joined in these conferences," the statement said. "He is going to proceed to Washington to discuss further details with appropriate officials of the United States government. These conferences will also cover the supply problems of the Soviet Union."

White House Secretary Stephen T. Early, who released the announcement of the portentous Roosevelt-Churchill meeting to newsmen here, was unable to say when Mr. Roosevelt would return to Washington.

So far as is known, Mr. Roosevelt is still at sea somewhere off the New England coast. His special train is standing by at Boston, and it was indicated yesterday that he may not return to the capital before tomorrow or possibly Saturday.

It was believed that Hopkins might also accompany Mr. Roosevelt back to the capital.

During Mr. Roosevelt's cruise aboard the Presidential Yacht Potomac, his movements have been kept secret. Cryptic messages relayed from the Potomac to the navy here have talked of the fishing and the weather—and were remarkable for their lack of real news.

Speculation was nevertheless rife during the most of the trip that very important events were afoot.

The result of the face-to-face meeting between Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill was expected to be an increase in the tempo of American war-aid to Britain and Russia and a firmer policy toward Japan in the Far East.

How and in what manner these objectives are to be achieved was not known immediately, since Mr. Roosevelt and his chief aides in these matters still are absent from the capital. Continuation of the Beaverbrook talks with officials here was expected to develop many important aspects of war-aid problems.

FDR-Churchill Plan Draws Varied Congress Reaction

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The disclosure that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, in a meeting at sea, had formulated "peace aims," drew varied comment in congress today, the sentiment dividing for the most part on interventionist and non-interventionist lines. It follows:

Sen. Austin (R. Vt.) assistant minority leader of the senate, who has supported President Roosevelt's foreign policy since the outbreak of the European war: "It is a good program, but as to details, I want an opportunity to study them."

Sen. Clark (D. Idaho) a member of the congressional non-intervention bloc: "The whole statement released at the White House resembles President Wilson's fourteen points which were admirable in their objectives, but which were thrown in the waste basket when peace came.

"The third provision in the president's statement with regard to the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they live is particularly interesting. I wonder whether this applies to India and other nations held in subjugation by England."

Sen. George (D. Ga.) a ranking member of the senate foreign relations committee: "I just don't care to comment about it."

Rep. Thomason (D. Tex.) ranking Democratic member of the house military affairs committee: "I think it was a fine statement. It has my one hundred percent approval."

Rep. Young (D. Ohio): "President Roosevelt has demonstrated that he has now taken the lead in the peace offensive. The common people of the world want peace and our president will achieve world leadership for this nation in the part he is playing to bring to an end this senseless slaughter."

Senate Democratic Leader Barkley: "I think that the principles outlined by the President and Prime Minister Winston Churchill will find enthusiastic response in the hearts of all people everywhere who believe in freedom and democracy."

Rep. Dirksen (R. Ill.) opponent of the administration's foreign policy, said: "I shall lend encouragement to any sound, decent and reasonable effort to bring about peace, and every effort to bring about world disarmament as long as it is scrapping of armaments by all nations."

Rep. Sabath (D. Ill.) chairman of the house rules committee, said: "It will have a wholesome effect in that those nations not yet conquered will band together with Britain, Russia and China, and with the help of the United States, stand firm against Germany. It is a wonderful agreement whereby Britain is willing to forego any gains."

deem it right to make known certain common principles in the national policies of their respective countries on which they base their hopes for a better future for the world.

"First, their countries seek no aggrandizement, territorial or other;

"Second, they desire to see no territorial changes that do not accord with the freely expressed wishes of the peoples concerned;

"Third, they respect the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live; and they wish to see sovereign rights and self government restored to those who have been forcibly deprived of them.

"Fourth, they will endeavor, with due respect for their existing obligations, to further the enjoyment by all states, great or small, victor or vanquished, of access, on equal terms, to the trade and to the raw materials of the world which are needed for their economic prosperity;

"Fifth, they desire to bring about the fullest collaboration between all nations in the economic field with the object of securing, for all, improved labor standards, economic advancement and social security;

"Sixth, after the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny, they hope to see established a peace which will afford to all nations the means of dwelling in safety within their own boundaries, and which will afford assurance that all the men in all the lands may live out their lives in freedom from fear and want;

"Seventh, such a peace should enable all men to traverse the high seas and oceans without hindrance;

"Eighth, they believe that all nations of the world, for realistic as well as spiritual reasons must come to the abandonment of the use of force. Since no future peace can be maintained if land, sea or air armaments continue to be employed by nations which threaten, or may threaten, aggression outside of their frontiers, they believe, pending the establishment of a wider and permanent system of general security, that the disarmament of such nations is essential. They will likewise aid and encourage all other practicable measures which will lighten for peace-loving peoples the crushing burden of armaments.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Edward C. Woelfel, 53, for 25 years a city fireman, was shot and killed at a Western Hilltop street intersection today. Police, arresting the man's brother-in-law, quoted the suspect as blaming the slaying on Woelfel's alleged attentions to his wife.

The accused man registered as Harry H. Frey, 54. The two men married sisters and Woelfel's wife died 25 years ago.

bers of the executive board. One member from each Ohio county, to be elected by the county organization, will form a state advisory committee.

A resolution passed unanimously called for "protection of the American farmer's products first and the placing of agriculture on an equal basis with other industries."

Another said "We believe prejudicial action has developed in forming the farm program and farmers are being penalized for something for which they are not guilty." It added that "Farmers are entitled to live the American way without dictation."

Kennedy accused the AAA organization of setting up "a more powerful propaganda machine than any in Europe to entice farmers into giving up their rights for a mere dole.

"Farmers seem to have created the impression that all they want is a dole and they will do anything for it. The purpose of the AAA has been to keep the wheat market below the government loan rate on grain so the farm program will be more attractive to farmers."

Speaking at the afternoon meeting, A. W. Briskie, Stark county farmer, said "farmers need an organization to represent all farmers. We have several organizations but they don't represent all of us."

He added that the association formed yesterday should not limit its activities to repeal of the wheat quotas but should fight other battles in the interest of farmers.

"When we get more money we can pay our help more and keep our boys at home," he asserted.

H. H. Fackler, Plymouth, chairman of the Richland county protest group, headed a movement to limit membership in the state organization of bona fide farmers. The suggestion was written into the by-laws after considerable debate.

Another lengthy discussion involved the assessing of dues ranging from $5 to $15, depending upon the wheat acreage of the member. The Delaware county delegation threatened to stay out of the state association unless the charge was dropped to $2 a member.

The $5 to $15 dues were accepted with 20 per cent to go to the county organization and 80 per cent cent to the state association.

There was a sprinkling of women in yesterday's group. Some of the delegates came in cars decorated with wheat and corn and placards saying: "Repeal the Wheat Tax" and" America First, Why a Penalty?" Eighteen counties were represented.

Watch Progress of New Legislation

Richland county and other Ohio wheat farmers today watched with deep interest the progress of a new government wheat quota legislation which would allow them to feed surplus wheat to their livestock or use it for farm purposes rather than store it in government bins.

The legislation, carrying the principle embodied in an amendment set forth by Rep. J. Harry McGregor, of the 17th Congressional district which includes Richland county, was passed by the house by a 176 to 163 vote.

Wheat-growers feared that a presidential veto would kill the bill freezing government-held wheat and cotton stocks for the duration of the emergency.

The measure would forbid the government to sell in the domestic market 170,000,000 bushels of wheat and 6,500,000 bales of cotton.

Price Control Administrator Leon Henderson has declared that release of government-held agricultural surpluses would be an effective check on rising living costs and any inflationary farm price trends.

Secretary of Treasurer Henry Morgenthau, jr., and Under-secretary of State Sumner Welles also have opposed the bill.

EXCHANGE HALTS SUGAR TRADING

Suspends Dealings in Futures At Request of OPM Chief.

NEW YORK —(UP)— The board of managers of the New York coffee and sugar exchange today suspended trading in domestic sugar futures indefinitely. Dealings in the world contract will be continued, however.

The move in suspending domestic sugar trading "until further notice" was made at the request of Price Administrator Leon Henderson, the exchange said.

Domestic sugar prices had scored wide gains in recent sessions, reaching the highest levels in four years.

tude now assumed toward the men who were called for the purpose of creating an army. No allowances were made for recreational facilities, guest houses for mama and papa and visiting sweets or for high-priced and high-powered sewage disposal plants.

"The war department did not even think of the necessity for heavy road and parking spaces for motorized equipment nor for adequate storage facilities for gasoline. The generals were running the army along World war lines and had not properly worked the requirement of a mechanized army.

"When the Germans surprised them, as they did France and England, the requirements of a mechanized army were not sufficiently understood to be considered in the plans made for the camps."

The committee charged that the nine camps will cost "more than twice" the war department's estimate of $154,636,731, and that the cost per man will be $702.41 instead of the estimated $320.

"The committee believes" the report said, "That these costs of the army camps were unduly and unneccessarily high . . ."

The nine camps investigated were Fort Leonard K. Wood, Missouri; Fort George C. Meade, Md.; Indiantown Gap, Pa.; Camp Blanding, Fla.; Camp Stewart Ga.; Camp Hulen, Tex.; Camp Wallace, Tex.; Camp Davis, N. C.; and Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, AUGUST 14, 1941.

Revised version: "There's nothing sure but death and higher taxes."

Now is at least the time to be looking around to find out if you can get coal when you want it.

As the Boston Globe explains it, meat prices have advanced because of all the ships that were torpedoed between there and Chicago.

Those Non-Defense Expenditures

ONE of the most disturbing phases of the present national situation is failure of the federal administration to pare non-defense costs in order to lessen the burdensome taxation necessitated by defense expenditurs.

There is something worrisome in the idea that men unaccustomed to earning money, denied the privilege of managing their own inherited fortunes, and inexperienced in either finance or business, are now being entrusted to spend billions of dollars which they are permitted to accumulate by the simple process of unlimited taxation.

It is now the idea of Treasury Secretary Morgenthau that he will need $5,400,000,000 (this is billions, remember) in NEW revenues in order to pay two-thirds of planned government costs by taxation, leaving one-third to be borrowed.

Expressed belief in congress is that not more than $4,000,000,000 can be obtained by taxation at this session, including contemplated sources outside the tax bill passed by the house.

Little attention has been paid Secretary Morgenthau's belief that at least a billion dollars can be cut from non-essential appropriations, or to the program outlined by Congressman Disney, of Oklahoma, proposing savings of $1,800,000,000.

Some idea of the wild orgy of spending that seems to be regarded as quite proper is gained by noting that the discredited Florida ship canal, one of President Roosevelt's pet projects, is being revived by inclusion in the rivers and harbors bill, which is also to present the highly controversial St. Lawrence waterway plan.

Recognizing heavy taxes as essential to carrying through the national defense program, it appears not unreasonable for taxpayers to ask their elected and appointed representatives to adopt a policy of strict economy in non-defense expenditures—and to quit jockeying with billions of dollars as if they were handling stage money.

Europe's Gathering Unrest

WHILE increasing unrest is being reported from the conquered countries of Europe this is far from attaining the proportions of a counter-revolution and nothing along that line is anticipated in the near future.

The much-publicized V activity has developed no military power and has no effective undercover organization, but this movement is proving useful in a way. The constant tapping is getting on the nerves of the Nazis and tugging at their self-control. It unites the underdogs in a conscious membership in a vague and unseen lodge.

Knowing that they are united, and that Germany is not making the progress she hoped to make either in the invasion of Russia or that of the British Isles, the conquered nationals take heart and join in sabotage. The sabotage in itself may not be heavily destructive but it weakens the Germans just the same. Stories keep coming of 25,000 extra German troops sent to keep order in one country, of wholesale executions for disorders elsewhere, of uprisings in Norway and Jugoslavia.

The German army seemed limitless to peaceful nations who liked neighborly friendliness and butter on their bread and asked only to be let alone. The tanks, the troops, the planes seemed endless. But they are not so. Every extra 10,000 troops, every hundred planes, every dozen tanks taken from the reserve to hold down the occupied nations are troops, tanks, planes, machine guns fewer for somewhere else. "Every little helps" is the motto of the V-folks.

One Way to Waste Public Money

THINK THIS OVER. Fewer than nine per cent of Mansfield's registered voters went to the polls to cast ballots at Tuesday's primaries, for which taxpayers will be required to kick in something more than four thousand dollars, according to board of elections estimate—or around $2.35 for each vote cast.

And for this expenditure the following was accomplished:

Fred M. Bushnell was nominated as Democratic candidate for mayor by a vote of 882 against 417 for his opponent—which appears to make this outcome a foregone conclusion from the start.

Three Democratic councilmen at large were nominated out of a field of four candidates—by sufficient margins to indicate no need for a contest—and two Democratic council seats provided ward contests.

On the Republican side there were no contests, yet 421 Republican voters went to the polls—probably through force of habit.

Had there been no contests among Democrats, as was the case with both parties in a number of Ohio cities, the primaries could have been dispensed with and several thousand dollars saved.

This is merely an example of dumb ways in which public money is wasted.

Organizing a 'Dunkirk Fleet'

THE NAVY is organizing an auxiliary fleet of small craft along the Pacific coast. Little fishing and pleasure boats are being mobilized by hundreds. The plan is to fit them with suitable guns if an emergency calling for their aid should arise. It is all being done on a volunteer basis.

The duties of the small boats in case of war would be to watch for submarines, intercept small boats attempting landings and be on the lookout for stray enemy aircraft. Some of them also will be able to sweep for mines.

The nickname "Dunkirk Fleet" is not given because of association with defeat, but because it was the heroic service of the small boats which turned the Dunkirk disaster into a glory of achievement.

Men between 17 and 50 are being inducted into this class, M-2 of the Merchant Marine Naval Reserve. They may go on active service at once, or wait on call.

Preparations like this are characteristically American. Useful, individual and free are these skippers of the small boats service.

Solitary--or Hair Do?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SHE'S SHOCKED—and angry. And thinks somebody ought to do something about it right away.

It all started with that clipping that told about the way they're treating girls and women nowadays in some of the "more progressive" reform schools and penitentiaries. Letting them have regular weekly beauty treatments—manicures—waves—permanents. Allowing some of them to take training courses in beauty work, so they'll have a trade to support themselves when their time is up.

"What are things coming to," demands little Miss Harrison, when common criminals are treated like this? What sort of encouragement does it give a decent girl to try and behave herself? We have two girls in high school ourselves—"

Mrs. Harrison's eyes fill with anxious tears as she thinks of her two girls. Her kindly, plump face quivers and red wells rise on her soft, wrinkling neck. She's a good woman—Mother Harrison. She wouldn't deliberately hurt anyone. But she is also very firm about "upholding American standards"—and she honestly believes that "coddling prisoners like this" strikes at the very root of those standards. I wonder!

I don't agree with Mrs. Harrison—yet I respect her feeling. And it might surprise you to know how many other American citizens—fathers as well as mothers—share those feelings . . . actually believe that America's going to the dogs because we allow such "crazy privileges."

BUT ARE THEY "CRAZY PRIVILEGES?"

Consider, for example, some of the things they are doing in the State Industrial School for Girls at Tecumseh, Oklahoma, where Mrs. Creighton B. Burnham, wise and understanding superintendent, is making a great record for herself and her state. They have beauty treatments at Tecumseh, too . . . as well as training courses which receive state recognition and licenses. They are using every expedient which will make the girl inmates feel that they're "regular folk" with a future instead of branded outcasts . . . gay, pastel colored house dresses, made by the girls themselves . . . amateur theatricals, costumed, cast and staged by the girls . . . beauty, daintiness and good cheer in every corner.

IS THAT "CODDLING?" OR IS IT SMART PSYCHOLOGY . . . SOUND ECONOMICS . . . DECENT HUMANITY?

What's the dearest treasure of every sane human being—the one thing you can appeal to when all else fails? It's his PRIDE, isn't it? Now, for a matter of months or years, that erring human being is in your care. And it's going to be expensive care. You'll have to invest considerable time, money and effort before the job's done.

So what are you going to do with his or her most precious and potent possession — that pride? Are you going to kick it around . . . and make your own job infinitely tougher thereby? Would that be an intelligent act on the part of a supposedly civilized nation?

OR ARE YOU GOING TO CHERISH THAT PRIDE . . . DEVELOP IT FOR YOUR MUTUAL PROFIT?

A week in solitary . . . or a permanent . . . which is the better investment? I vote for the waves . . . so did that wise and loving one two thousand years ago—touching the bent, shamed head that wiped his weary feet with the golden glory of her hair.

Timely Editorial

Broadening the Base.

Secretary Morgenthau is urging that the tax base be broadened to bring in millions of Americans in the low income group in order to raise 300 million dollars a year more than the present bill will produce. His plan, he says, would give these families "an opportunity—a welcome opportunity—to make a direct contribution through taxes to the defense of their country."

It probably wouldn't be "a welcome opportunity" — nobody enjoys paying taxes—but the burden would not be great and the broadening of the base would be only fair. Under the plan of lowering exemptions the new taxpayers would know that all those already paying taxes would have higher taxes to pay.

Of more importance, however, would be the effect in making several million more persons tax-conscious. People do not realize the indirect taxes they pay. But a tax on incomes is something tangible. Those who pay such a tax are more concerned to abolish extravagance from government.—Kansas City Times.

B. M.: "1. The doctor tells me that my ten-months-old baby has a heart murmur. He did say there was nothing to worry about and we would watch it. Will you please comment?

"2. My husband does not believe in diphtheria injections. Do you think they are essential, and are they entirely harmless?"

Answer: -. Heart murmurs in children are usually temporary, especially in a child as young as this. At any rate, they do not give any trouble until very late in adult life.

2.Diphtheria injections, in my opinion, are essential and harmless.

Reader:—"Do beef cubes have any value?"

Answer: Beef extracts have little or no caloric value and can therefore be used in a reducing diet to satisfy appetite without counting as food. But they should not be considered as having any nutritive value in a convalescent diet, where they may be used only to increase appetite.

M. K.:—"Does acidity cause itching and would you advise a strict diet?"

Answer: The two things acidity causes are sleeplessness and gout, although everything is ascribed to acidity from the skin in and back out again. If you find the cause of the itching, the correct cure will suggest itself. It is likely to be a local irritant rather than some vague acidity.

M. S.:—"Is cottonseed oil beneficial for use in colitis? If so, do you take it inwardly or by enema?"

Answer: If the colitis is not ulcerative colitis, cottonseed oil 3 ounces at night as a retention enema is helpful, but remember the enema habit is as bad as the cathartic habit. So do not get into the habit of using enemas.

J. H. R.:—"Is there anything known which will stop or lessen the attack of asthma when it comes?"

Answer: Yes. Many drugs will relieve asthma, the best being adrenalin and ephedrine.

F. P.:—"Please tell me through your column if it is dangerous to pull a child's hair for punishment?"

Answer: Yes. This is a cruel form of punishment.

U. S. Play to Gain Vichy Favor Failed Against Nazi Terrorism

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—It is no secret that the most anxious diplomacy the United States has attempted in Europe for some time has been the effort to keep France out of the Axis; for complete surrender of Vichy to Hitler meant that vital African bases would become Nazi stepping-stones to South America.

But it is a secret that the chief influence the state department wielded over Vichy was through Bob Murphy, counselor of the American embassy, who went to mass daily with Marshal Weygand. Murphy was transferred from Vichy to North Africa especially to nurse Weygand.

Ardent co-religionists, they became good friends; and it was upon Murphy's recommendation that vitally important U. S. oil and aviation gasoline was sent to North Africa. Unfortunately, this oil and gas—sent despite British protests—now arrives just in time for use by the Nazis when they take over the French bases.

While the state department and Bob Murphy were right that Weygand and the French Catholics have been the strongest opponents to Hitler, they were wrong in one other vital respect. They overlooked the strength of the Nazi espionage system in France and the underground terrorism established by Hitler to sway French leaders.

"Special Commissioners."

THIS began some time ago under the direction of Alfred Rosenberg, famous Nazi philosopher and Jew-baiter. Marshal Petain fought this organization from the start, but many of those around him co-operated. Most active were Jacques Doriot, the former Communist: and Methonier, a sort of KKK leader who wore a hood and who became famous after the bombing of the French Union of Factory Owners.

Under this French Communist-Nazi supervision, secret agents called "commissionaires speciaux" were appointed, and cells were formed to eliminate forces opposing French co-operation with Hitler. Even high officers of the French army were arrested when they dared oppose Nazi collaboration.

And behind the recent murder of Marx Dormoy, cabinet member in the Blum Socialist government, was the fact that he had tried to expose these terrorist groups.

The state department failed to gauge the strength of this movement and bet its money—and gasoline—on the nice but impotent old men of Vichy.

Slapping Down Pappy.

SENATOR "Pass the Biscuits, Pappy" O'Daniel lost no time in sounding off in the senate, and the senate lost no time in slapping him down.

The day after he took his seat, the Texas crooner, breaking the hallowed tradition that rookies should be seen and not heard, lectured the senate at length on numerous matters. The chamber took it in silence. But next day, when he offered an irrelevant amendment to the selectees retention bill, the senate nailed "Pappy" hard.

As soon as he sat down, without a further word the senate threw the amendment into the waste basket.

The slap-down happened so fast that for a minute O'Daniel didn't know what hit him. When he realized what had occurred, he started to protest but by that time another senator had the floor.

Note—In addressing the senate on his first appearance, O'Daniel was emulating the late Huey Long, who pulled the same stunt. Like the Louisiana Kingfish, O'Daniel harbors secret presidential ambitions.

Lewis on the Move.

NEWS copy was flowing fast over the desks of telegraph editors last week. But in the space of a few hours came three stories connected with John L. Lewis.

On the surface, there was no relation between them. But when put side by side they revealed the tell-tale trail of the bush-browed laborite's maneuvers to restore himself as a political power and master of the CIO.

Story No. 1 bore a Joplin, Mo., dateline. It reported a speech by Reid Robinson, head of the CIO Mining and Smelter Workers, attacking OPM Associate Director Sidney Hillman by name.

Robinson is a Lewis henchman and thereby retains his job. He was one of the few top-rung CIO leaders who followed Lewis in his bolt to Willkie, and his direct attack on Hillman is the first made by any important CIO executive.

Inside CIO word is that the hand of Lewis was behind the blast; also that other blasts will be coming from key-placed Lewis henchmen as part of his fence-building to recapture the CIO presidency at the annual convention this fall.

Story No. 2, from Washington, reported that Lewis had deposed certain officials of the United Mine Workers' Gas, Coke and Chemical division, replacing them with Ora Gassaway, another of his henchmen, and Kathryn Lewis, his daughter and confidential secretary. The men replaced are able, experienced but independent labor leaders. They did not bolt to Willkie and have co-operated with Hillman on defense problems.

Munitions Boss.

THE Gas, Coke and Chemical Division covers all workers in the munitions industry, which of course is rapidly expanding, and the union is keeping step with this growth.

So by installing Gassaway and his daughter at the head of this union, Lewis quietly made himself labor boss of one of the most strategic defense industries. He put himself in a key position where the government must deal with him to obtain gun powder for the army, navy and air corps.

Also, he ensured that the union will vote as he orders at the CIO convention.

Story No. 3, the only one that attracted attention, was the Lowden-Hoover-Landon attack on Roosevelt's aid-Russia policy. Lewis was one of the fifteen signers of this blast, and thus disclosed the circuitous political game that he is playing.

To the rank and file of the CIO John L. is parading as an ardent defender of their interests. "Labor has no real representation in the defense setup" is his battlecry and his henchmen's. But simultaneously he is lining up with Old Guard Republican isolationists who have opposed the defense program.

This juxtaposition charts Lewis' strategy. As president of the CIO, the ally of the GOP Old Guard, and an isolationist leader, he would be at the top of the political heap. In next year's congressional elections and in 1944, he could write the ticket, possibly even put himself on it.

This ambition is Lewis' consuming passion—second perhaps to his hatred of Franklin Roosevelt.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—One of the standard sights around the show shops is to see the understudies congregating outside the stage doors on the streets. These patient actors have to wait until after the curtain rises before receiving a go-home ok from the stage manager. Sometimes when an actor is ailing they have to wait through an entire performance. The other night over at "Watch On the Rhine," the understudy for Peter Fernandez went on in the middle of the play, an unusual thing for a straight play. Peter became ill after his first entrance, and as soon as he could get offstage his substitute was sent in for him.

Then there are the ticket-takers, perhaps the most vigilant men around Broadway. The lad over at the National theater the other night had a humorous experience. A potential customer came up to him and handed him a ticket. About to tear it, he noticed it was a throw-a-way ticket advertising Roseland Ballroom. When he called the theater-goer's attention to it the latter self-consciously fished out the real ticket from his pocket. . . . Other tasks which age a doorman are the entr' acte gate crashers. Generally they borrow a program from a friend who has been to see the performance and walk through the door after the first act intermission, prominently displaying the program in their hands.

Inside the stationary store is a quick sketch artist who will turn out a very creditable likeness of you in no time at all—for a dollar.

RAYMONT SCOTT practices constantly on a silent piano. . . . The keys give off no sound when struck. . . . Many famed virtuosos employ the same scheme for practice. . . . It gives them finger exercise — without annoying hotel guests. . . . Benny Goodman, for the first time in his musical career, is employing a male vocalist. . . . He's Tommy Taylor, formerly with Mitchel Ayres. . . . They say the composer of "Lament to Love" is only 15 years old —Mel Thorme of Chicago.

An interesting collection of musical signatures is that new Columbia album titled "Theme Songs," including the theme songs of Benny Goodman, Eddy Duchin, Harry James, Orrin Tucker, Raymond Scott, Horace Heidt, Will Bradley, and Kay Kyser. . . . Their titles are "Let's Dance," "My Twilight Dream," "Caribiribin," "Drifting and Dreaming," "Pretty Little Petticoat," "I'll Love You In My Dreams," "Think of Me," and "Thinking of You."

A Farmer's Diary

Our Corn Field

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

WE HAVE a seven-acre field of corn below our house and barn. The land is creek bottom and worn from too many cultivated crops, but to get the rotation I desired and the grain necessary for our stock, I plowed it up again. June rains made it difficult to work and as the rows were drilled, we found it a heavy task to get the grass and weeds out. We rackled it with hoes. Each day we worked the more interesting the growing corn became. Often I went down across the field at dusk, touching the tender blades with my hands as they swung along, and noticing the progress of arching leaves, widening joints and anchor roots.

The flock of white Leghorn pullets sought cool shade about the large green stems, and filled their crops with bugs and worms and hoppers, or wallowed in the silt at the sunny edge of the corn field.

But for the past three weeks, the scattered thunder showers that promised abundant rain, have gone around our valley and given us only drizzles. The earth is parched and meadow pastures and rolling hillsides are burned a reddish brown. Great cracks check the top soil and widen constantly. The dirt of the cornfield is like a powdered dust and when I brushed the surface with my hand, I found that even three inches down, the ground was hot and dry.

Now each morning, hardly has the dew evaporated, when the blades roll up like cigar leaves and later wilt and wither in the heat. Beneath, the covering of the stems is brown and burned and appears ready for harvest long ahead of time. Tardily the tassels come and very slowly the embryonic ears, with hints of silk emerging. I am glad to know that the hybrid variety I planted has deep roots and has been bred to withstand dry weather.

When evening comes and the welcome dampness of dew covers the sleeping fields, the blades no longer shrivel, but unfold. They seem to stretch and bask and expand themselves to get the benefit of every spray of dew. There in the dusky moonlight I have admired their crisp and noble posture and felt refreshed and comforted myself.

And all along our valley, in the night, a pleasing sweetish fragrance fills the air—so gentle, yet so compelling and so full of lusty promise. No autumn fields or blooming gardens produce at any time a more constant and delightful fragrance. Across the even tops of the tassled corn, the evening mist clings in evanescent skeins. We stand upon our shriveled lawn grass in our bare feet and scan the sky for rain—and know that we share the confidence—and the anxiety—of every other corn belt farmer.

CLAIM REDS IN UKRAINE SEEK ESCAPE BY SEA

Nazis Assert Soviet Armies Trapped In South By German Advance.

ditional large ships were badly damaged."

Elsewhere on the eastern front "operations also are continuing according to plan," said the communique.

(A Finnish communique said in Helsinki, however, that on the northern flank, above Lenigrad, Russian forces encircled in the Lake Ladoga area are trying to flee in boats from several lake ports.

(Thus, somewhat parallel situations exist at both ends of the front and a double "Dunkerque" such as ended the great German campaigns both in Flanders and in Greece, may be imminent.)

German infantry was said steadily to be tightening its arc around Odessa and advancing steadily toward Nikolaev, 65 miles further east, after annihilating a strong rearguard covering retreating Red army forces.

Informed sources intimated the Russians would put up the stiffest kind of fight to hold both Odessa and Nikolaev.

Reports of operations in other sectors of the farflung eastern front dealt mostly with the activity of the German air force, which was said to have downed 184 Soviet planes in the 24 hours ending last night while losing only four.

DNB told of a heavy Nazi air raid on an important railway junction at Bryansk, 150 miles southeast of Smolensk, where German armed forces are aiming a spearhead at Moscow.

The Moscow-Kiev railway was badly damaged in this assault and a great number of railway cars were set afire, the news agency said. A Russian armored train, 11 guns and eight armored cars were reported destroyed in raids on Soviet troop concentrations in the same area.

On the northern flank of the front the Luftwaffe was credited with destroying 180 trucks, four railway trains, 16 tanks and 27 guns.

Claim Nazi Offensive 'Being Smashed'

MOSCOW —(AP)— The German offensive is being smashed, Pravda, Communist party organ, declared today in explanation for Soviet communique reports that there was no important change in the front.

Russian war dispatches indicated that fighting again was developing into isolated actions and that German armies which spurted yesterday in the areas of Kakisalmi, Straya Russa, Smolensk and Bel Tserkov again have been halted.

"Behind the modest Soviet reports," said Pravda, "lie great and serious events.

"No important changes occurred in the disposition of troops because the German offensive is being smashed by the mighty resistance of the Red army, exhausting the German forces.

"In the western direction, many German divisions already have been destroyed and only countless graves recall the existence of these divisions. Dozens of other divisions, after several battles with the Red army, have lost nearly half, and others more than half, of their make-up."

The Soviet information bureau's communique, again reporting "nothing of importance occurred" during the night, avoided mention of fighting sectors and said only that the Red air force was cooperating with land troops in attempts to halt the Nazis.

Earlier information indicated Soviet forces were fighting to stop a German threat to the Moscow-Leningrad railroad. A communique said some Nazis had reached the area of Straya Russa, 80 miles from the rail line and 140 miles southeast of Leningrad.

Straya Russa, a small summer watering place on Lake Ilmen, also has steamer connections with Leningrad via the Polista river. German troops which reached this area apparently came from the direction of Soltsi, 40 miles westward.

A Russian communique, mentioning this sector for the first time, also acknowledged that Smolensk was abandoned "a few days ago."

Another German move toward Leningrad from the north was reported in the Kakisalmi region on the Karelian isthmus, 75 miles away, where fighting has been in progress for many days.

The Russian Baltic fleet, meanwhile, was said to have destroyed four enemy torpedo boats and several transports some days ago. The communique failed to say exactly where or when the action took place.

Information concerning the southern front was limited to a laconic mention of fighting in the Bel Tserkov direction.

(Informed sources in Berlin indicated the German drive in the Ukraine had encircled Odessa and that an important section of the southern Ukraine would shortly fall to the Nazis. Bel Tserkov is about 60 miles south of Kiev and 230 miles north of Odessa. Previous Russian communiques have mentioned fighting at Uman, midway between Kiev and Odessa.)

The Soviet air force was reported to be pounding German troops and airdromes but the Russians admitted the loss of 35 planes to 43 German planes downed yesterday.

Calls on French to 'Re-organize' Country

VICHY —(INS)— Admiral Jean Darlan, vice-premier and new "dictator" of all the French armed forces, today called upon Frenchmen for full support in "reorganizing the country with discipline."

In a special broadcast to the army, navy and air force, Darlan, friend of collaboration with Germany, said that he was "proud" of his appointment as French defense minister.

"I promise to devote the army to the cause of France, which has been so nobly defended by the marshal," he said, pledging himself to carry out the policies of Marshal Henri Petain, French chief of state.

"You can all count on me to guide the nation on the way the marshal has chosen with farsightedness and wisdom.

"The nation's defeat cannot spoil the morale of men whose courage was recognized even by the enemy.

"All three armed forces have the same motto: 'honor, fatherland, courage, discipline.' These four words guide the marshal. With these four words alone shall we carry on."

Darlan did not amplify Marshal Petain's declaration on Tuesday on collaboration with Germany, or give any concrete details of his own policies as defense minister.

Columbus police said that when Hall was arrested last December, he vowed:

CHAPTER IV

"Honey," Hyacinthe beamed, "I'se so proud yo' ain't goin' let nobody see how you feels! You done get yo'self a nice rich husban' and show dat no good Mistah Hillyah where he git off. Dat's de smaht gal. Ain' no man worf sheddin' no tears ovah. Dey is all alike."

Hyacinthe had supported three husbands in her day, and had long since decided she was through with romance.

"Boy!" Hyacinthe laughed until her fat bosom shook, "don' I wish dat husban' of yours could see you look like dat! He'd sho 'nough drop daid!"

Curt De Witt could not hide his surprise when he saw the changed April. She did not look like the same girl who had worn the simply close fitting blue taffeta suit with white collar and cuffs the day before. But she looked very stunning. He caught his breath.

"You're quite a surprise," he grinned, standing back to admire her. "There must be two of you."

Gay watching from behind the curtains as they walked to the De Witt limousine decided they were a perfect couple. Curt wore his evening attire with distinction, and although he was not a large man gave the appearance of being tall because of the dignified way he carried himself. He had a clean-cut wholesomeness that Gay admired very much in men, and she thought April was very lucky to have met him.

When Cherry arrived in a taxi a couple of hours later, Gay knew the instant she opened the door that Cherry had been drinking. She was glad April was not home.

"Hello, hello, hello!" Cherry swayed as she crossed the living room and threw herself on the divan. "But have I been on a cocktail party? But have I? I guess they kind of snuck up on me after the first six. But you know how it is. I'm going 'round in circles.

Gay was too wise to wax maternal because she knew that was the last method to use with Cherry. She said calmly:

"Lie down and maybe you'll stop the merry-go-round. I'll have Hyacinthe make some coffee. Have you had anything to eat?"

"Didn't have room for it," Cherry stretched out kicking off her pumps.

"You'd better have some soup," Gay went to the kitchen door to speak with Hyacinthe.

The old colored woman looked in at the girl on the divan, shaking her head with disapproval. Gay gave her a warning glance not to say anything, Cherry was babbling thickly:

"What a party! You remember Lola Hitchcock who came to New York to be a model. She threw it for me. I dropped into her hotel to say hello and she started calling up her friends to celebrate."

Gay remembered that Lola did not enjoy a very good reputation in college, but kept silent while Cherry talked on.

"Lola introduced me to a gorgeous man with piles of money and he gave me his card to take to a friend of his who backs a shop. He says he'll tell his friend to give me a job modeling. Isn't that priceless luck? I can't believe it! Lola's got a big drag. She says I'm all set. She knows all the ropes, and loads of gorgeous men with millions of dollars."

Suddenly Cherry's voice trailed off, and from her heavy breathing Gay knew she had fallen asleep. She went to the kitchen to tell Hyacinthe not to bother about the soup and the colored woman said darkly:

"Dat young debbil goin' get herself into some kind awful trouble. And she done goin' break poor li'l Miss April's haht. I got notion to set right down and write her mammy a lettah and tell her de whole thing."

"You will not," Gay said firmly. "There's no use worrying Mrs. Lind to death. You know she isn't very strong."

Hyacinthe sighed heavily: "I guess you all is right, Miss Gay. But dat gal goin' right to de dogs heah in de big city. You mahk my words."

April and Curt dined at the Steel club, and arrived at the Hamildon theater just before curtain time. It was during intermission when they walked to the lobby for a cigaret that April saw Drusilla and Hill, with a party of friends.

The expression on Kent Hillyer's face when he saw his ex-wife in the lip stick red dress and emeralds with Curt De Witt at her elbow caused Dru to turn quickly and look in April's direction.

April saw the surprise on Drusilla Bayne's face. She said under her breath to Curt De Witt:

"Small world! There's my husband—and the woman his engagement to was announced today."

Before Curt could reply Dru had got her bearings and taken Hill's arm to pull him toward April. She shrieked merrily:

"How jolly! Hello April, darling. How wicked you look!"

Curt touched April's elbow fleetingly, sending a message to her to keep her chin up and see it through. April stiffened, and her chin raised a little higher.

"How do you do, Drusilla," she said forcing a smile with an effort. "Good evening, Hill."

Hill looked as though he wished the earth would open and swallow him when Drusilla clinging to his arm possessively, said noisily for the benefit of the friends who stood waiting developments across the lobby:

"Darling, how sweet meeting you! I did want to see you and know you understood. Of course you've heard we're going to be married!"

There was nothing for April to do but present Curt De Witt. She did so with complete self possession and when Dru realized suddenly that April's escort was the millionaire steel company head her eyes widened with surprise. Then she bared her small white teeth in a knowing little smile and said meaningly:

"You sly little fox. How long has this been going on?"

Curt De Witt looked at the too slender heavily jeweled blond with the chalk make-up and scarlet slash of a mouth and said almost contemptously:

"Mrs. Hillyer and I met through mutual friends coming back on the plane from the west yesterday."

Drusilla laughed merrily: "How nice for you both. But I don't believe a word of it." Then to April, "Darling you must join our engagement party! You will of course."

"Thank you," April said stiffly, "but we have made other plans."

"How too bad," Dru still clung possessively to Hill. "Well, you do wish us happiness, don't you darling? I just couldn't bear feeling we weren't going to be friends. Just because Hill and I happened to love each other so terribly."

April said in a voice that sounded perfectly calm, in spite of the storm going on inside of her: "Of course I hope you'll be very happy."

April had never seen Hill with another woman. It seemed impossible suddenly that the tall handsome man standing beside the notorious Drusilla Bayne was no longer her husband. How proud she had always been of him in his evening clothes when they went to dinner and the theater. To her Hill always outshone every male in sight.

Suddenly she was seized with an almost sickening jealousy. It was a feeling she had never experienced before. Hill had remained absolutely silent throughout the entire scene, staring out of veiled eyes at the new April with the lip stick red dress and emeralds, and the priceless orchids on her shoulder. Of course they were Curt De Witt's orchids, he told himself. The stuffed shirt!

It was Curt who ended the suspense by bowing to Hill and Drusilla and saying coolly to April:

"Shall we go back to our seats, my dear? It's curtain time."

Dru, who would have given a year's income to snare Curt DeWitt into her social circle by getting him into her party said with a slight sniff:

"Well, that was a neat brush off. I guess they just can't wait to be alone."

Hill almost snapped at his new fiance: "I think they handled a delicate situation very nicely. It is time to get back to our seats."

Drusilla stopped, increasing her pressure on Hill's arm:

"Darling," she smiled up at him sweetly, "You'd almost think you were upset. Surely you don't care what April does now, do you? After all it's all over."

Hill said coldly: "I'm not in the least worried about her. April is a lady. She will always be a lady."

Dru's eyes narrowed slightly. "Dearest, you're not falling for that stuff about her meeting Curt DeWitt on the plane yesterday, are you?"

"I'm quite sure of it," Hill tossed his cigaret away.

Drusilla laughed and patted his arm: "You're sweet," she pursed her lips. "I could kiss you for being so gallant. But I know you don't really believe it. Of course she'd be smart enough not to risk dragging him out in the open until after her divorce."

Dru could feel Hill's resentment as he looked down at her. She realized she had gone too far and said hurriedly:

"Well come along, darling. Let's not quarrel about it. I'm sorry. I shouldn't be so frank, I guess. Come on, let's join the gang. I do love you terribly."

In the theater Curt reached for April's hand and held it throughout the rest of the performance. His understanding was comforting, and April was very grateful to him for seeing her through a bad moment.

Afterward they had supper and danced on the Silver Moon Roof, and Curt DeWitt told April of his boyhood in Pittsburgh and how he grew up and got a job in a steel mill after he finished Pitt University. His climb up the ladder of success to the presidency of Sheilock Steel read like an American fairy tale, and April was so interested she almost forgot for a little while that she had a broken heart.

"I'm afraid," Curt said to her at the door of the apartment in Douglaston, "I'm going to annoy you quite often, my dear. Do you mind?"

She smiled, shaking her head: "Not in the least. You've been a life saver. I'm terribly grate ful to you for bothering with me. I'm afraid I'm not very good company right now."

"Let me be the judge of that," Curt said. Then he lifted her hand and turning it over, kissed her palm. "Good night," he said softly. "You're a very sweet child, little April. I'll call you this afternoon."

He hurried down the walk to his car, and April waited to wave to him from the doorway. When she opened the door, Gay sat in a chair in the living room. Gay put her hand to her lips:

"Cherry's asleep on the divan," she said softly. "I just wanted to warn you not to make too much noise."

April said, worried: "What's the matter, is she ill?"

"Just a few too many cocktails," Gay put her arm around April. "Come on, I'll help you peel off that dress. Did you have a good time?"

"Wonderful! The show will be a big hit," April predicted, "and we danced at the Silver Moon afterward. But the high spot of the evening was that during intermission we bumped into Dru and Hill in the lobby."

"Well, that was a coincidence!" Gay laughed. "Tell me more!"

April said with a worried frown:

"I'll tell you all about it later. What about Cherry? Was she terribly tight? Where had she been?"

"Lola Hitchcock gave a party for her at her hotel. Lola is a successful model now, it seems. And Cherry met a man who has a million dollars and has a friend who backs a shop and will give her a job modeling. That's as far as Cherry got before she fell asleep."

April's eyes filled with worry.

'Oh, Gay, what are we going to do with her?" she asked desperately. "She's so stubborn. It won't do any good to try to talk her out of staying in New York."

CUSHION READY WHEN DEFENSE GOES OVER TOP

Public Works Projects Are Prepared To Meet Industrial Sag.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—John M. Carmody, federal works administrator, has established a special division to list public work projects that can be built after the emergency "to cushion the economic and industrial shock that follows war preparation efforts."

The "shelf" of projects listed in the FWA's Public Work Reserve will be those that may be undertaken by local, state and federal agencies when the wheels of industry begin to slow down after the emergency.

Various types of projects will be included — schools, sewage and water supply facilities, streets, roads, bridges, public buildings, parks, state institutions, hospitals, etc.

A backlog of needed public works which would require an annual expenditure of five billion dollars already exists, Carmody said.

Sometime ago, President Roosevelt asked that a public works reserve be built up as a means of offsetting the economic slump that will follow the emergency.

E. C. Smith, jr., formerly acting director of highway section of the engineering division of the Work Projects Administration, will head the new organization which will embrace a similar staff created recently by the WPA.

Regional offices will be established in New York, San Francisco, New Orleans and Chicago.

"This program has two distinct advantages," Smith said. "It is undertaken definitely and deliberately at a time when the nation's resources are being heavily taxed in order to be prepared as never before to cushion the economic and industrial shock that follows war preparation efforts.

"Next it will bring into play and into full cooperation the best efforts of planning bodies everywhere—local, state and national—in the preparation of a sound, well-rounded out program of work that will be related not only to public needs but to the plans of private industry for re-adjustment and future expansion."

Editor Reveals Past History of 'Musical Stones'

DOYLESTOWN, Pa.—(INS)—Far from being a recent discovery, "musical stones" have been known and recognized in Bucks county for more than 50 years, according to George S. Hotchkiss, editor of the Doylestown Daily Intelligencer.

Hotchkiss was amused by the recent "revelation" of Professor Edward L. Troxell, of Trinity college, that "musical stones are a reality." The professor found stalactites in Shenandoah caverns which uttered a bell-like note when struck with a hammer.

"At a meeting of the Buckwampum Literary society in nearby Haycock fifty years ago," said Hotchkiss "a man lined up an octave of the 'ringing rocks' and played tunes upon them with a mallet." The editor added:

"There are tons and tons of them in the two great acreages in Bucks county—one of them owned by the County Historical society. And a few other counties in Pennsylvania also have such deposits."

GET SENTENCES OF THIRTY DAYS

SHELBY — Two transients who gave Shelby police their names as Tom Virgets and Giles Spencer today had started on a 30-day jail sentence at the county jail in Mansfield.

The men pleaded guilty to charges of petty larceny when they appeared before Mayor W. R. Morris' court yesterday and each was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Virgets was arrested by Merchant Policeman Jack McCormick when the flat iron he had taken from a downtown store slipped out from under his coat when he passed McCormick.

Spencer was arrested by Shelby police in a box car with the radio he had "lifted" from a downtown filling station.

Don Lybarger was found guilty in court yesterday of assault charges and was fined $10 and costs.

Armored Division Soldiers Have Language of Their Own

FORT KNOX, Ky.—(INS)—When a sky winder goes off the iron beam and is forced to hit the silk, it's bad and even gravel agitators and yellow legs are going to talk about it at the G. I. struggle.

But it's also a cinch that the lay public will not know what these sundry characters are talking about. They will, however, be dressed in Uncle Sam's khaki and even a civvy will soon catch on to the fact that the boys are talking their own, or army, brand of English.

At Fort Knox, headquarters of the army's first armored division, the language is especially rich—a mixture of the good talk that World war doughboys knew and a hodge podge of the mechanical lingo of modern motors, tanks, guns, and planes.

A sky winder, for instance, is an air corps man. When he's flying the iron beam, he's following the course of a railroad. When he's forced to hit the silk, it means that he has had to make a parachute jump.

The gravel agitators and yellow legs who are apt to be talking about the event are respectively infantrymen and cavalry men.

The place for their conversation is a dance at the post—a "government issue struggle."

In addition, the soldier has a thousand other names for the events in his life, the food he eats the weapons he uses and the officers above him. At the mess table he calls his coffee "ink," the sugar and cream that go with it become "side arms." Eggs are cackleberries."

When he goes on a G. I. war (maneuvers), he is fed from a bean gun (mobile kitchen).

When the soldier misbehaves perhaps on the advice of a guardhouse lawyer, a fellow who thinks he knows the ropes but doesn't, he is not placed in the guardhouse but in barracks 13 or the cross bar hotel.

Perhaps the most colorful words the doughboy uses refer to his equipment. A tank is a hell buggy, a doodlebug, an iron horse and a dozen more.

A machine gun is a shotgun or scatter gun. The large artillery are known as barkers, a 37 mm gun is little poison. A motorcycle is a popsickle.

And when all these odd machines and guns are set arolling in mounted review to display Uncle Sam's armed strength, the show to the boys in the tanks is nothing but a—rat race.

Civil War Joke Makes Its Bow In Training Camp

SCOTT FIELD, Ill.—(INS)—They've revived this one from the last World war, or maybe it was the Civil war.

Anyhow, they're telling the story at the Army Air Corps station here about a newly-arrived Selectee who had been assigned to sweeping a squadron street with a huge stable broom.

Becoming tired and thirsty and spotting a running hose nearby, he turned to a neat-appearing military man standing in the street and said:

"Hold my broom a minute, will you, bud?"

"I'm an officer!" the other told him stiffly.

The rookie grinned in a friendly fashion. "Oh, that's all right," he said, "I trust you."

Ohio Lady Has Felt Better Ever Since Taking 'Vendol'

Distress of acid indigestion, pains in muscles of back and legs, dizziness, and other symptoms due to constipation quickly responded to this medicine with a 17-year reputation. "Try it yourself," she advises.

MRS. LUCILE RICE

Mrs. Lucile Rice, living at Springfield, Ohio, says, "When I'm constipated I suffer terribly from symptoms like dizziness when I stoop over, pains in the muscles of my arms, legs and across the small of my back, and feels life I hurt all over. Acid indigestion drives me almost frantic, and what little food I force down tortures me with gas, bloating, sensations of a lump in my throat that I can't swallow, all resulting from constipation.

"I'll bless the day I first took Vendol, because I have felt better ever since. It gives the most satisfying temporary relief from constipation that I need so badly, and with this relief I never suffer the distress of sour stomach, biliousness, dizzy spells, aches or pains. Vendol proved a wonderful medicine for me so I advise everyone to give it a chance to help them, too."

Vendol is a satisfying laxative for the bowels, mild diuretic to the kidneys and carminative for the stomach. KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!
Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.
The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.
Low blood count oft times may mean you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.
Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles when they have been weakened by simple anemia. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. 45c.

ELAINE FOX HONORED BY MRS. C. A. RAY

Bride-Elect Feted Wednesday Evening When 16 Friends Meet for a Social Evening of Cards at Ray Home, State Street.

MRS. CHARLES RAY, 10 State street, was hostess last evening for the second in a series of pre-nuptial parties honoring Miss Elaine Fox, bride-elect of John Pfahler. Their wedding will be an event of Sunday afternoon, Aug. 24, at the First Methodist church in an open church ceremony. The evening was spent socially and bingo was the diversion. Prizes were awarded to Miss Elinor Coe, Miss Jean Turner, Miss Lucile Bridges and Miss Ruth Mains, who presented them to the honoree.

Sixteen guests were present and enjoyed the luncheon served at two long tables. Pastel colors were used for the table decorations and favors were in white. Summer bouquets centered the tables.

THROW "EMPTIES" AWAY

To keep a neat kitchen, don't try to hoard glass jars or bottles. Their attractiveness makes this a temptation, but so many foods are now put up in glass that new jars are always available at the neighborhood grocery. An accumulation of empty bottles soon gets out of control and uses up unnecessarily a lot of valuable kitchen shelf space.

Bathing Suits Are Now Made For All Types

By JANE COCHRAN

NEW YORK—(INS)—It's a toss-up whether the season's clever new bathing suits or the soaring temperatures will be the incentive for a trip to the beaches. But whatever the motive, you'll do it in style.

Women whose figures acquired a few misplaced bulges during the winter find that the designers have been thoroughly sympathetic to their problems. Young figures, straight and slim as a reed and the envy of women of all ages, can wear suits to accentuate their youthful grace. The season's novelty suits also belong to them.

New twists have been given the dressmaker suits, excellent on most all women. Their slightly flaring skirt is becoming and the belt or sash can accentuate a tiny waist. Jersey is the seasons pet material for these suits, but you'll find them in the outstanding cottons, in silks and even knits. Many have matching coats for beach lounging.

One dressmaker suit is made in dark rayon jersey to point up your tan, sleek fitting to the waist and with a slightly flaring skirt. The suit has a sash to tie and drape in the front.

Similarly styled but with a matching coat added, a white pique suit is highlighted with color accents of green and white striping. The coat is suit-length, also stripe trimmed.

If you're spending the summer within walking distance of the beach, this is the outfit for you—the swim suit is of striped cotton material, sewn in a diagonal pattern and gathered at the bosom. Over it can be worn a coat of matching material, knee length so as to double for a dress when closed. The coat closes with a tie of the self fabric and boasts of a flattering and comfortable shawl collar.

Hawaiian inspirations have been utilized in the novelty suits of the season—everything from a grass skirt to a short sarong. The "grass skirt" suit is two-piece. The bra and panties are of a bright print, and the "grass" fringe covers the pants from the waist to the hem.

A pareo suit has a short, draped sarong effect over matching underpants.

Wedding Vows Read July 28

Father R. F. Gillig officiated at the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Harris, Augusta, Ga., and Christoff G. Kilzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kilzer, 262 Central avenue. The ceremony was read July 28 at 10 a. m. in the rectory of St. Peter's Catholic church.

For her wedding the bride was attired in a navy blue ensemble with white accessories. She wore a corsage of roses. Attending the couple were Miss Betty Miller and Michael Mayer, both of this city. Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents. The bride is a graduate of an Augusta high school and of the Glenn Beauty school. Mr. Kilzer is assistant manager at the Shaw Jewelry company. The couple are now residing at 111 Wood street.

Couple Tell of Wedding Solemnized In Napoleon

MISS ANGIE LONG, 298 South Main street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orion Long of Bellville, and Frederick DeLong, 178 East First street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl DeLong of Butler, were married on Saturday, Aug. 2, at Napoleon, according to announcement being made today. The young couple were unattended for the single ring service solemnized at 5:30 o'clock by Rev. C. B. Taylor.

After a short wedding trip to Ft. Wayne, Ind., they returned to Mansfield and will reside at 34 Small avenue.

Mrs. DeLong was graduated from Bellville high school and is employed at the office of the "Mud" Gardner garage. Mr. DeLong, who is employed at the Ohio Brass company, was graduated from the Butler high school.

COMMITTEE MEETING.

Mrs. Alice Mast, 401 West Fifth street, entertained members of the War Relief Committee of the Women of the Moose at her home Wednesday evening. Ten members and one guest, Miss Ruth Roesch, senior regent of the group, were in attendance. During the business session plans were made to hold a garden party at the home of Mrs. Mast, Aug. 27. This affair will be open to the public. The evening was spent socially. Luncheon was served at the close of the evening. Mrs. Mary Bookman, 174 East Fourth street, will entertain the committee at her home Sept. 10.

CHURCH GROUP.

Members of the Women's Missionary society of the First Brethren church held their regular meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Harold Thoma, 444 North Mulberry street. Associate hostess was Mrs. Priscilla Teeter. Devotions were led by Mrs. Howard Richards. Mrs. Elmer Carruthers, president, conducted a short business session. Luncheon was served at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Harry Keil, 275 Harker street, will entertain the society at her home Sept. 10.

WELCOME TWO.

Two new members, Mrs. Dean Fighter and Mrs. Elmer Hamaker, were welcomed to the Bid-A-Game club last evening when the group met at the home of Mrs. Norman Cheape, West Dickson avenue. Mrs. Robert Brook was a guest in attendance. Two tables were in play and score prizes were won by the new members and the guest. At the close of the diversion refreshments were served at small tables decorated with summer flowers. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Bair, 453 West Dickson avenue, the da to be announced later.

Delicacy of Make-Up Most Important

By MAX FACTOR, Jr.

Famous Hollywood Beauty Specialist Writing For INS.

HOLLYWOOD—Delicacy of application has always been one of the principle differences between an ordinary make-up as compared with one which is superbly perfect and glamorous.

Today, such make-up delicacy should be more pertinently of interest to glamour-conscious women than ever before.

In years past, the principal and obvious merits of applying make-up materials delicately lay in the fact that such application brought a degree of attractive smoothness which could not be attained in any other way.

This is now just as true as it was ten or twenty years ago. But, there are now still further reasons for such delicacy in the art of applying make-up, which were not so apparent in years past.

Foremost among these is the inescapable fact that the whole school of make-up thought has become considerably altered during the past several seasons.

Most of us can remember when make-up formed an actual and impenetrable covering for the face, with it being practically impossible to discern the real skin surface through it.

The smartest make-up of today is altogether different, and actually doesn't look like make-up at all. Instead, there is an appearance of natural skin, with the only departure from nature being that this craftily groomed complexion appears to be much more perfect and attractive than an ungroomed and therefore completely natural skin usually is.

New and improved make-up materials are largely responsible for such make-up naturalness being possible. But, even if these most modern and perfected of make-up aids to beauty are used, their full glamour value cannot be realized without delicacy in application.

In nearly every case, women have been originally applying all of these materials in rather liberal quantities. After which, if they recognized today's trend toward make-up naturalness, they were faced with the necessity of reducing these applications to a proper minimum by removing surplus. In nine instances out of ten, this problem of make-up surplus can be largely eliminated by merely gauging the amounts needed a little more closely in the first place.

Face powder offers the only example of a make-up material which should not be minimized in its original application. Unless face powder is first applied in a liberal quantity, there is great danger that it will not cover every necessary skin surface, and that it will not penetrate such little skin crevices as those around the mouth, nose and eyes.

Defense Costs, and Children

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

What about our growing children and defense? In various meetings at the 45th Annual Convention of the Congress of Parents and Teachers, problems of defense in relation to homes and children came up repeatedly.

The section on parent education led by Dr. Ada Hart Arlitt was devoted to ways and means for study groups to take up problems of defense in relation to children in the family. It was agreed that we should keep on with normal activities in the home and community.

Mrs. Alitt referred to some children of early school age who have excessive fears that war will come here. She was sure that many high school and college youths are deeply worried. On these points there was general agreement in the group. Also it was agreed that pre-school children are rarely concerned about war except as adults reveal great concern in their presence; that for the peace of mind of children of all ages, parents need to exercise great poise and self-control.

Good Times in Family.

We need, especially in these trying days, to have more good times together in the family. We need to encourage the tot to build, draw, paint and color and get enjoyments from creative play alone, also with other children. There are more reasons now than ever to read to the baby and young child. Just imagine what resources the parent and young child would have during a possible black out if they had often been together with the happy dwarfs and fairies and had been used to talk about the many things they had read together.

At the convention great concern was frequently expressed about our school children as the defense program develops. Must they be the first to feel the pinch? One speaker recalled that when our cuts came during the depression they came most heavily in expenditures for public education, that while the cut for state expenditures was only 5%, for public education it was 25%.

Don't Budget Education.

We must have more guns and planes, and quickly, too But shall these come out of the budget for the education of children? "No!" answered the delegates to that convention.

The problems of nutrition constantly came up. There are nearly 43% rejections in our selective draft because of physical defects of which nearly half could be remedied. Faulty teeth are responsible for 7% of the rejects. The more remote causes of most of the rejections are inadequate nutrition and medical care. We were reminded that a third of our population don't have food essential for health, though we are the richest country in the world. Must they have less in order to pay for defense? Again the answer was, "No." As one leader put it, "We can have more for defense and still more for butter and education if we take it out of luxuries."

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

My ruse worked better than I had expected it would, although I had hoped that if I could show Mary a valid excuse for giving up or postponing the fanatical decision which she had just made, she would welcome the respite, perhaps sub-consciously, but nevertheless sincerely.

"Oh, Auntie Madge! You know I never could let you down!" she exclaimed, her robe of martyrdom slipping from her shoulders so rapidly that I could almost see it slithering to the floor. "Of course I must wait until I find out about that 'Mrs. Veritzen's husband' business from Noel himself.

"I don't suppose, though, that he'll come to me with it," she went on doubtfully. "That wouldn't be like him. Oh, when he's been—upset—I've heard him call himself a 'tame canary,' but I didn't dream he had any cause for it except his own imagination.

Wants to Shield Noel.

"But I'll find out," she said resolutely. "I'll keep my ears open from this minute on, and it sure won't be healthy for anybody I hear speaking that way. Oh, I could tear anybody apart with my bare hands who would hurt Noel."

Her anger was as genuine as her love for Noel. But I knew that her martyr role, although she really believed she was ready to play it, was a chimerical thing, and that if I could divert her attention to some combat she could wage for her husband's sake, it would recede by itself into the limbo of things forgotten.

"You might begin with Stephen Redfield," I said quietly.

Suspects Redfield.

"You mean," she said, then answered her own question.

"I see what you mean" she went on. "Steve's been the cause of those slurs against Noel. He probably began them, the unspeakable swine!"

"You heard him a few minutes ago, didn't you?" I asked, and her face crimsoned.

"Did I?" she echoed. "The beast! To think he dared speak of Noel in that way! And I didn't have a chance to do anything except whisper a few words to him, for Father Veritzen was right there in the other suite.

Worried About Play.

"You had told me he must get Steve away to another room in the hotel, and I knew that was no time for me to haul Steve over the coals. Father Veritzen would have wanted to know what for; then he would have kicked Stevie out on his ear, pronto, and what would have become of the play?"

I lowered my eyelids quickly, shot a sharp, appraising look at her from under them. Yes, she was utterly unconscious of what she had said, and the self-revelation it held.

Without Stephen Redfield's appearance in the role to which he had brought such distinction, the play would be like a human body deprived of one of its limbs. So Mary had held her tongue when a word from her, telling Philip Veritzen of Redfield's ribald comments upon his son, might have roused one of the terrible rages which were also the elder Veritzen's heritage, and have swept Redfield out of the play.

Theater Her Foremost Love.

I did her the justice to believe that her essaying of the martyr role, in proposing to give up her career, had for the moment been a genuine impulse. But deep within her the love of the theater dwarfs almost everything else, and I wondered, anxiously, if that also included her love for her husband.

The next instant she had put my thought into concrete words.

"I'm not such a heel as you think, Auntie Madge. I'm not putting the play and Steve above Noel."

Business Girl Should Appear Cool And Chic

By JANE COCHRAN

(NNS Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK—Sweltery summer days present a challenge to the business girl who wishes to uphold the reputation that her chic yet serviceable clothes have won for her.

Chicness when the thermometer soars is an art that only careful planning and shopping can provide. It takes only a small slice of the weekly pay check to acquire a cool, good-looking wardrobe that will refresh the whole office and remain unwilted for wear on an early evening date.

The smart business girl makes wide use of cool, tum suits—in gingham, seersucker, sheer, shantung, pique and crepe. Her cottons and shantungs are in colors while she favors black for her more sophisticated suits and dresses

Brown and white combinations are the choice of many a smart white collar girl and she wears them with white hats and brown and white spectator pumps.

Printed jersey is a favored dress material, cool and wrinkle-resistant. Solid colored jackets often top print dresses, and suggest many accessory possibilities.

Add Smart Touches to Costumes.

It's accessories that add the smart touches to these costumes—a big black cartwheel and short white gloves with a two piece suit of black sheer, trimmed in white pearl buttons, or a fresh white pompadour hat of pique to accent a brown and white pin-dotted crepe suit.

Casual summer clothes take on added smartness when topped by an amber tropical straw breton, large in the brim and dipping down over the bangs or pompadour in the front.

White collars are a traditional touch on the clothes worn by career girls, and they're used to the best advantage with summer suits and coat dresses.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, August 15

A DAY on which there may be substantial gain and stability, probably coming where and when least expected. There are strange forces of surprise and suddenness at work, promising to accelerate enduring growth and solidity in both old and new enterprises. However, it would be as well to accept assistance from such unexpected sources rather than to seek it from customary channels. The major interests of the day, however, may be found in sentimental, artistic, inspirational or social activities, with love, beauty, romance and the finer things of life holding sway over the more sordid. A time for pleasure and culture.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a year of increased growth and security, arising from some sudden and unforeseen source, with the element of the novel, singular or unconventional actuating things. Strange persons and circumstances may prove more beneficial than the intervention of regulation or looked-for agencies. The social, domestic, cultural, artistic and higher emotional or creative urges may be uppermost, with pleasure and growth for the young and romantic.

A child born on this day, although having many splendid practical talents and skills, yet will lean toward the unsual, romantic, artistic and inspirational expressions of higher forces. It will love beauty, nature and the more exalted pleasures of life and home.

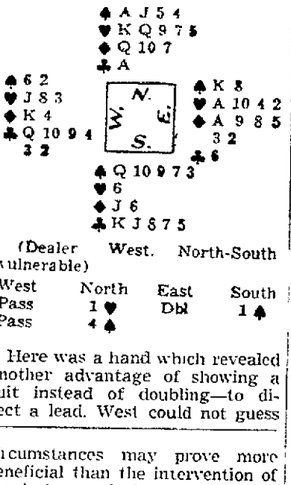
"The Authority on Authorities"

SHOW THE TWO SUITS

Even in the very earliest days of contract, when Harold S. Vanderbilt first got up the Vanderbilt system of bidding, based on the artificial 1-Club bid to show honor strength, the peculiarities of two-suited hands were recognized. He made it a dictum not to use that bid when you held a two-suiter, but to bid one of the suits at your first opportunity. Then you would be in position to complete your story by showing the other suit at your next chance, even if intervening opponents' bids had reached a high state. The same principle applies now to informative or takeout doubles—avoid them if you have a two-suiter, and show one of the suits first.



(Dealer West. North-South vulnerable)

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♥	Dbl	1 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

Here was a hand which revealed another advantage of showing a suit instead of doubling—to direct a lead. West could not guess the location of his partner's strength, so offered his club 10, which the A won. Reckoning East as having the trump K, the declarer laid down the spade A and led the 4 to it. East then decided to lay down his two red aces, to see what signals his partner would give. But he got the lowest possible card on each, the 4 on the diamond and the 3 on the heart.

The only chance for another trick, to set the contract, he reckoned, would be by a ruff. West, with a singleton diamond, might have led it originally, but with a singleton heart might have refrained because it was the dummy's suit. Hence, he might have had a singleton heart. So to the next trick East led his heart 2. That made it easy for South, who got the rest of the tricks.

If East, instead of doubling the original 1-Heart, had bid 2-Diamonds, West would have led the diamond K, then the 4 to the A. Later the heart A and spade K would have set the contract.

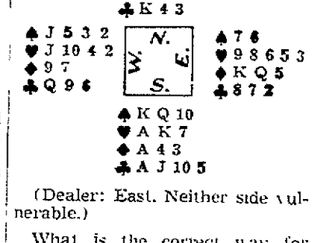
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

What is the correct way for South to play this deal at 6-No Trumps, against a lead of the heart 2?

POLICE TO USE NEW ACCIDENT REPORT SYSTEM

Mansfield To Adopt Plan of Safety Council; Calls For Exhaustive Data.

A definite step toward the elimination of a large number of Mansfield's traffic accidents was claimed today by Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals in announcing the adoption of the accident report system of the National Safety Council.

While the police department has been keeping records of accidents, they have been merely reports in an abbreviated form in which the complaints of the drivers and the time and conditions under which the accidents occur were written.

The new reports, according to Boals, will cover all phases of traffic accidents and will provide the new traffic squad with a chart of the worst traffic areas in the city.

Boals said the report would definitely fix the time, location, and conditions under which the accident happened. The type of autos involved, their condition and data on the drivers, will also be included.

If the crash involves a pedestrian, the report will show whether he was jay-walking, crossing with or against a signal, coming from behind parked cars, standing in safety zone, getting in or out of another vehicle, lying in road, working on road, or hitching on the side of a vehicle.

The report will show whether the drivers were going straight ahead, making right, left or U-turns, slowing or stopping, starting from parked position, parked or backing, overtaking or avoiding another car or skidding.

Traffic violations, not indicated on the report now used, would also be indicated as speeding, on wrong side, going through safety zone, passing on hill or curve, passing stopped bus, cutting in, improper signaling, improper turning, disregarding officers or signal lights, improper starting from parked position and improper parking location.

Boals said that the National Safety Council report had been adopted after comparing it with the state report. A representative of the state highway department urged Boals to adopt the national system which he said was much more inclusive than the state's.

By using the new report, Boals hopes that the traffic men can "spot" bad traffic centers and concentrate on them until the reason for accidents occurring there is discovered.

City painters, directed by Boals, have begun changing traffic markings on the streets. Among the new markings will be those to designate left turn lanes. Boals feels that the shunting of through traffic to the right side of the street will eliminate many of the accidents now reported.

JUDGE HUSTON TO PRESIDE AT EIGHTH OHIO'S ANNUAL MEET

Common Pleas Judge Charles H. Huston will be master of ceremonies at the regimental reunion dinner meeting to be held by the Eighth Ohio Volunteers at their 43rd annual reunion in Columbus, Sunday, August 31, and Monday, Sept. 1.

Judge Huston, a corporal in Mansfield's Company M, part of the regiment known as "McKinley's Own," was invited to preside at the Monday dinner by Robert K. Aderholt of Columbus, general chairman.

General Charles Dick of Akron, twice United States senator from Ohio, will give the address on "McKinley," at the Memorial services to be held Sunday afternoon in the senate chamber of the state house.

General Dick bore the appeal to Washington from Santiago which resulted in the removal of the American army from Cuba to the states in 1898 when its extinction was threatened by an epidemic of yellow fever.

William C. Beer of Bucyrus, United States referee in bankduptcy, and Rev. George W. Brown of Ashland, Presbyterian pastor, are others participating in the memorial service. Beer, member of Company A will speak on "Our Departed Comrades." Brown, a private with Company D of Wooster, will open and close the service as chaplain of the organization.

Regimental headquarters will be held at the Chittenden hotel. The Sunday night campfire will take place at Ben Hough Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and during that time the ladies will attend a special entertainment arranged in their honor.

The "President's Own" was composed of companies and other units located in Mansfield, Akron, Alliance, Bucyrus, Canton, East Liverpool, Shreve, Polk, Wadsworth and Wooster.

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

CHICAGO—The substance and accuracy of the following column can't be guaranteed. Most of it seems reasonable and in accord with such facts as are known, although I can hardly credit some of it. The only thing I can say with confidence is that it is a fair concensus of our active professional military experts in Washington.

They have military map specialists and statistical information with an organized system for sifting and drawing conclusions.

In addition some unquestionable information has been coming through from officers abroad in our own or other services. Piecing it all together, the result is something like this.

The recent rumor that Goering is in the dog-house is entirely unfounded as is the explanation that he and the generals, Von Keitel and the rest, opposed the great Russian adventure or that the latter has bogged down.

The professional soldiers insisted that Germany could not risk further westward action leaving the powerful Russian army on its flank and rear. They also argued that 1941 was the last chance to attend to it. Every strategic consideration required the destruction or practical paralysis of that great force before making another move.

The professional view was adopted. Hitler is confining himself to political affairs and has little to do with the campaign. The soldiers are in the saddle. That certainly sounds reasonable.

The next important assertion is that while what was called Plan A—a three to six weeks decisive campaign—has been slowed up, Plan A was merely a tentative gamble, not greatly relied upon by the general staff.

If it worked by some spectacular break-through such as that in France, so much the better, but the possibility of its not working was never forgotten and Plan B was not to be interfered with if Plan A—a swift blitz—didn't perform a miracle.

Plan B was a systematic chewing into mince meat of the whole Russian army. This required much more time. You can't kill 2,000,000 men in a day, and the Rusisans are expert at demolition—destruction of roads and bridges. Plan B required the bringing up and supply of masses of German heavy infantry. This in turn depended upon the speed and efficiency of the great German specialized road-building corps.

In the meantime, by grand scale encircling movements, such as that now going on around Odessa, and dozens of smaller pincer attacks, all the way from the White to the Baltic seas, Plan B is one of wholesale slaughter and destruction the like of which the world has never dreamed.

Plan B is said to be ahead of schedule and it is beginning to be clearer that the communiques of the German high command are more accurate and timely than those of Russia.

The German plan for Russia is said not to be, as it was in Poland, reorganization of a whole people and country for complete digestion.

Rather it is first to liquidate the Communist party and then to seize certain mining, agricultural, petroleum and industrial areas and let the havoc of defeat, destruction and disorganization take its course elsewhere.

Well there it is. As I began by saying, I can't vouch for it, but it certainly opens up some interesting vistas for imagination.

Congress Agrees to 30-Day Vacation

PROCEDURE OF INDUCTION IN ARMY REVISED

War Department Revamps Plan To Meet Protests of Rejected Men.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — A sweeping revision of selective service induction procedure has been ordered by the war department in an effort to meet protests that many men called to arms have quit their jobs and made other final arrangements only to be turned down at the last minute by army doctors.

The department worked out a new system last spring and tested it in Pennsylvania in May and June. It was learned today that this system has been approved in principle and that the high command has ordered it extended to all other states as rapidly as state selective service directors and army corps commanders can work out details covering local situations.

The principle of organization, one official said, will be to give the potential soldier his physical examnation as far as possible ahead of the date set for induction, and as close as possible to his home.

This amounts to almost a complete reversal of the present general practice of giving army examinations at reception centers after a man reports for military duty.

Local applications of the new procedure were understood to be in progress in New York, Ohio, Indiana and California.

In Pennsylvania the system called for a pre-induction physical examination board in every metropolitan area of 100,000 or more population. This distribution was designed to put a board within one day's journey of every prospective selective service trainee in the state.

From the outset the plan also contemplated that in states of low population and great expanse the examining boards would not be in fixed localities but would follow circuit-riding schedules so that no man would be inconvenienced in having to report for examination.

PROBE BLAST THAT KILLS 3

Sabotage Hinted In Oil Tank Explosion at Cleveland Defense Plant.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND—An investigation began today to determine whether sabotage caused an oil tank explosion which took the lives of three men at the Cleveland Hardware and Forging company, yesterday.

Herman Cooper, 25, Jack Snider, 40, and Frank Mayher, 35, died of burns suffered in the blast.

John R. Hartley, 40, who was burned about the face and hands while attempting to rescue the three, was treated and released from a hospital.

The men were operating a die-casting machine to which the oil tank and furnace were attached when the blast shook the four-story manufacturing plant.

Company officials said the tank was two months old and subject to government inspection.

Oil from the tank ignited and endangered 50 other employes, who quenched the flames before firemen arrived. The plant, which has national defense sub-contracts, employs 600.

ASK CITY FOR CAUTION LIGHT

Mansfield residents living near the intersection of Vennum, Marion and Douglas avenues had filed a petition with the clerk of council today asking that a flicker or caution light be installed at this intersection.

The petition, circulated by Dr. J. A. Yoder and C. Lyman Lantz, will be taken under consideration by council at the next meeting.

Meanwhile Traffic Officer Frend Boals and the recently appointed traffic squad have started a city-wide survey to determine all points in the city that need traffic safeguards.

WAR DEPARTMENT RULES OUT CIVILIANS IN BATTLE GAMES

(By Associated Press)

With the army in southwest Arkansas—The army, which has been clamoring for realism in the Arkansas and Louisana war games during the next month and a half, clamped down an emphatic "no" today on plans to bring civilians into action as fifth columnists.

This attempt at super-realism was labeled as too unreal.

The war department in Washing sent word to Lt. Gen. Ben Lear, commander of the second army and Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger, third army commander, that civilians were not to be enlisted in any "unauthorized" fifth column operations whatsoever.

Proposals to use farmers and townspeople in the maneuver areas as snipers against passing troops and to mobilize them for combating parachute invasions specifically were rejected.

The war department order said that civic buildings were not to be invaded and city officials taken prisoners in "simulated border incidents," as had been planned to add realism to the Kotmk-Almat warfare, an imaginary international intrigue preceding the actual deployment of second and third armies against one another in Louisiana during September.

Use of civilians actually would defeat the intended realism, the war department explained, because the army would have no jurisdiction over persons taking part in such plots. Fear was expressed that unintended incidents might lead to soldier-civilian disagreement and possibly bring court suits for false arrest.

BATTER SAFE

Burglars Enter Lumber Office, Can't Open Empty Vault.

Burglars entered the office of the Tinkey Lumber company, 409 North Main street, last night, broke through four doors, and battered the combination off the company safe but got only 25 cents and a spare midnight lunch of soft drinks and candy for their trouble.

Mansfield police reported today that burglars had not been able to open the safe but even if they had would not hove been repaid for their pains. Company employes said the safe was empty.

Identification Officer Ernest Fuller reported that entery was made by forcing the four doors with a small "jimmy" bar.

After battering the safe combination the burglars turned to soft drink and candy vending machines. A small amount of candy and soft drinks was obtained company employes said.

STREET CLOSED

SHELBY—Main street between Gamble street and Broadway was closed today as WPA workmen started to pour concrete on Main street bridge which was being widened. The street will remain closed Friday also.

STEEL WORKERS FAVOR UNION

Martin Plant Employes Vote on Bargaining Rights.

Employes of the Martin Steel Products company today had voted in favor of representation by the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, CIO, at an election held at the plant Tuesday, according to Fred Simon, Richland County Industrial Union Council secretary.

In the "sole bargaining rights" election, 87 per cent of the employes favored the union, Simon said. The voting went 128 for the union; 22 against it. Approximately 180 employes were eligible to vote, he stated.

The election returns, supervised by a federal labor board agent, will be officially certified by the NLRB at a latter date and the union will then open contract negotiations at the company, Simon said.

Laff-a-Day

Boy Scouts of the Johnny Appleseed area are starting to post more than 200 U. S. government defense bond posters, Floyd Dent, Scout executive, said today. Dent said Scouts under the direction of D. D. Montoya, would deliver and erect the posters in Richland, Ashland and parts of Crawford counties. The posters are part of the drive by the U. S. treasury to urge Americans to buy defense bonds.

Leslie Wagner, Mansfield attorney, was telling friends today about an experience he had the other night with the gasoline ban in Canada and New York state where he was on a brief vacation. Leaving the Canadian side of Niagara Falls with only one gallon of gas in his car, Wagner said he couldn't buy more anywhere because it was after 7 p. m. He drove slowly across the border to Buffalo to conserve his meager supply of fuel, expecting any time to run out. In Buffalo stations were closed, but he learned where one would sell to tourists if they needed it to get home. He assured the attendant he did and was able to purchase 10 gallons.

Hostessing at a guest house for the wives and families of men in service at Fort Knox, Ky., is now a part of the daily routine of Mrs. Richard R. Stander, the former Bette Penhorwood of Mansfield. Offered the position of assistant hostess recently when she arrived in camp to visit her husband. Mrs. Stander will remain at the guest house until Corporal Stander leaves on manuevers. At that time she will return to Mansfield for a visit.

Being civic-minded is commendable but the matter can be carried too far. Last night, Karl Goettl, secretary and treasurer of the Goettl Bros. company, was busy manipulating the handle on one of the city's parking meters after depositing a nickel. It was not until a friend called his attention to the fact that he realized that it was 7 p. m. and the meters had been out of use for more than an hour.

TALKS FRIDAY

Wheat Protest Leader To Give Sulphur Springs Address.

Russell Kiko, Stark county, newly elected president of the Ohio Marketing Quota Protest association, is scheduled to speak at 8 p. m. Friday at a meeting of the Crawford County Farmers' Protective association at the Sulphur Springs school east of Bucyrus.

H. G. McMichael, chairman of the county group, said wives of farmer-members will be welcomed and urged to take part in the meetings.

A Huron county protest group to be known as the Tax Free Wheat association, had been formed today with Harold Tilson of near Willard as chairman and Willard Baxter, Willard, secretary-treasurer.

The Huron county organization voted to petition congressmen for repeal of the 49-cent wheat penalty on grain marketed in excess of a limit set by the AAA and to seek refunds of taxes already paid on wheat and the processing tax paid on hogs.

RECESS WILL BE FIRST IN PAST 2 YEARS

Leaves Score of Important Administration Measures Awaiting Passage.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Without consulting President Roosevelt and acting solely on their own initiative, congressional leaders today have agreed to give the house and senate a 30-day vacation, starting Saturday.

In agreeing to the recess, the leadership virtually ordered congress on a "legislative strike," as a score of important administration measures are in the house or senate, awaiting passage. The list is topped by the $3,200,000,000 tax bill, the administration's price control bill, the omnibus river-harbor bill with its St. Lawrence waterway project, and the proposal to use selectees outside the western hemisphere.

Action on these measures will be delayed until late September at the best.

Before going on vacation, congress will complete enactment of the bill extending the service of draftees, national guardsmen and reservists to a full 30 months, the property seizure act and the $6,828,000,000 rearmanent appropriation bill.

It will be the first real vacation taken by congress since the summer of 1939. Both house and senate met continuously throughout 1940 and continuously — except for an occasional three-day recess — since the beginning of 1941.

The vacation may prove a "break" for the president, even though he wasn't consulted. In recent weeks, observers have noted a growing tendency, especially in the house, to revolt on administration measures. The climax was reached Monday night when the draft-extension bill was passed by the margin of a single vote—the closest recorded ballot taken in the house in many a year.

At any rate—whether it favors the president or not—congress will get a first-hand opportunity to learn what the people back home are saying and feeling. Some leaders believe that congress on its return may be more opposed to sending the United States into war than at present—and this time, not even the hardiest administration leader believes the house would vote for war.

Cite Draft Bill Vote as Proof of Anti-War Feeling

BERLIN — (INS) — The one-vote majority recorded for the Roosevelt administration in passage of the bill extending the period of army training in the United States was cited by German authorities today as clear proof of non-intervention sentiment there.

"It does not concern us whether American army service is for one year or ten," a spokesman said.

"As a whole, the measure symbolized an anti-European interventionist move. However, in view of the single vote majority, we feel entitled to point out that despite overwhelming war mongering propaganda, a substantial majority of the American people, as reflected by their congressional representatives, have ranged themselves against the small clique driving America into war."

SCHOOL BOARD HIRES THREE

Fredericktown Group Employs Teachers For New Semester.

FREDERICKTOWN—The Fredericktown board of education announces the employment of three teachers for the school year 1941-1942.

Miss Arlene Gamertsfelder of Cochocton, a three-year graduate of Ohio university, will teach in the grades. Miss Ruth Wigton of Centerburg, who has taught in Knox county for several years, will also teach in the grades. Miss Betty Wolff, of Mansfield, and a graduate of Ohio State, has been employed to teach history and English in the high school.

Since school started last fall resignations have been received from Miss Marjorie Coggins, Miss Barbara Silver, Miss Nelle Jo Dyer, Miss Ruth Howell and Mr. DeWitt Nicholson. In addition to these resignations, Miss Irma Schneider, Miss Mary Simmons and Mr. J. H. Lintner have been granted a leave of absence for the year 1941-42.

Earlier in the summer Mr. L. B. Peters; music, and Mr. William Laubourne, vocational agriculture, were employed to fill those vacancies.

A total of five new teachers to take the place of eight resigned and on leave will reduce the staff to 23 This will make one less teacher in the grades and two less in high school. This economy step has been necessary in an effort to keep within the budget, board members said.

Use Black Widow Spider Eggs To War On Spiders

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—Have you any black widow spider eggs around the house?

Southern California scientists want to know because the eggs are needed to stem an invasion of black widow spiders in the sugar and pineapple plantations of the Hawaiian islands.

Dr. W. Dwight Pierce, noted entomologist at the Los Angeles County Museum, explained that a tiny wasp parasite feeds on black widow spider eggs in most vicinities where the deadly spider is found.

He said that the wasp, known as Bacus Salifornicus Pierce, is one of nature's most formidable foes against the lethal black widow.

The wasps, he said, will be sent to the islands in the war on the poisonous pests.

The longest chapter in the Bible is the 118th Pslam—176 verses.

Civilians To Act As Fifth Columnists In War Games

(By Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Civilians will help the army to introduce Fifth columnists, snipers, parachute troops, border incidents and other undercover techniques of modern warfare to its soldiers in the nation's gigantic war games this month.

Under a plan outlined yesterday by second army intelligence officers to add realism to the maneuvers, kidnaping of mayors (with their permission), invasion of civic offices, taking over of city airports (without unduly disrupting plane traffic) and blacked out towns are among the most spectacular proposals.

This soldier-civilian cooperation—making average farmers and townspeople participants in the most grandiose war games in the nation's history—will be tried out first in southwest Arkansas, where the 130,000 troops of second army will maneuver for three weeks starting Aug. 17.

Employment of espionage and counter espionage was expected to play its role, too, in third army maneuvers in Louisiana where during the same period 330,000 soldiers will practice warfare over the sprawling mid-state Kisatchie National forest.

If second army's plan for bringing exacting realism to the maneuvers proves successful and practical this month, G. H Q. was expected to allow even fuller use of the methods in the gigantic September maneuvers employing the half a million troops of second and third armies.

Lt. Gen. Ben Lear will maneuver his avalanche of men, machines and horses from Arkansas into Louisiana early in September, while Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger withdraws his army into southwest Louisiana. In mid-September the two armies will hurl their might at one another across Red River, with Gen. George C. Marshall, war department chief of staff, supervising this largest practice battle on United States soil. Nineteen of the nation's 33 divisions will participate.

GALION BAND GOES TO CONFAB

GALION—Galion Eagles' band will leave Friday night on a special train for the national convention at Milwaukee, Wisconsin. The band will be accompanied by a delegation of members of the lodge.

On Sunday the Galion musicians will march in the parade which is one of the features of the convention.

The aerie held its regular meeting Wednesday night at which time two new applications for membership were received. Delegates were present from the Mansfield aerie. Lunch was served by Arthur Dawson and Roy Hubley.

PERILS SHELBY WALK PROGRAM

SHELBY—The city-wide NYA program here to improve sidewalks will shut down here for good unless an extension of time can be secured by city officials, it was learned today.

Funds for the project are being transferred over to national defense work, NYA officials told city officials, as the federal government moves to shut down non-defense projects.

The project started earlier this summer in charge of NYA Supervisor Mason S. Freeman. More than 5,000 square feet of sidewalk have been laid by the youths working on the improvement program.

LEGION TO SEND 300 TO PARLEY

Big Delegation Expected From Mansfield at Convention In Columbus Saturday.

Headed by Earl Saltzgaber, commander of McVey post, approximately 300 American Legion members from the Mansfield area will attend the Ohio Department convention opening Saturday night in Youngstown.

The Forty and Eight parade Saturday night will act as a preliminary opener to the convention which goes in session Sunday morning at the Stambaugh auditorium.

Sunday's program includes the state drum corps competition in which McVey post will not participate due to the part it will take in the national convention at Milwaukee in September.

Appearance of McVey Post drum corps at the national meeting is being sponsored by the post and approximately 42 musicians will make the trip.

Business sessions will comprise the Monday program at the department meeting and election of officers Tuesday will close the convention.

RECALLS PREDICTION

LONDON —(INS)— Mr. Hugh Dalton, Minister of Economic Warfare, speaking at Shildon, Count, Durham, stated that Hitler was writing his own death warrant nearly twenty years ago when he stated in "Mein Kampf": "The English will be regarded as the most valuable allies, as we may expect from them that ruthlessness and toughness which is determined to carry through to a victorious end any fight which they have begun."

BLITZ REDUCES BRITISH CRIME

Commissioner of Prisons Says Employment Opportunities Cuts Delinquency.

OSSINING, N. Y. —(U.P.)— War has improved conditions in England in one respect. Crime has decreased, according to Alexander Paterson, commissioner of prisons for England and Wales.

The improvement is attributed to more employment opportunities and the fact that younger men are in the army, navy or air service, Paterson told officials of the state department of correction in a visit to this country.

But a marked increase in juvenile delinquency has resulted from the preoccupation of parents with war work and the disorder brought on by bombings.

England has no problem of employment for released prisoners, Paterson said. Those of conscription age go into the military service. And prison terms have been shortened since the war began.

Bombings are a problem for correction officers in England, Paterson said. In Liverpool, for example, a direct hit was made on a cell block and a half dozen prisoners killed.

The explosion jammed all the cell doors and the guards had to break open the cells with sledge hammers.

The "grapevine telegraph" works overtime in English prisons during the war and officials have to combat floods of wild rumors among the prisoners. Hence every day, work is suspended while the warden or another official gives the news to the prisoners.

10 MEMBERS OF MANSFIELD'S GUARD UNIT GET COMMISSIONS

Ten members of Mansfield's Company F, Ohio State guard, have received apointments as non-commissioned guard officers, Capt. Glen L. Bierly anounced today.

Bierly said he had received a special order from Col. Emerson C. Woolf, commanding officer of the Third Regiment of the guard, authorizing the promotion of the ten guardsmen effective Aug. 1.

Among those receiving new appointments are: Harold P. Spreng, to be first sergeant; Howard R. Barnes, mess sergeant; Richard O. Davies, supply sergeant; Harlon E. Tremaine, platoon sergeant; Donald E. Frampton, platoon sergeant; Henry M. Kern, Winfield M Bonnell, Paul E. Blair, Donald A. Kreuger and Frank C. Schneider, corporals.

Bierly also announced that uniforms for the Mansfield company had arrived and would be handed out this week. The guardsmen will wear their new uniforms for the first time next Tuesday at their last drill before leaving for Camp Perry for a week's training period.

METER "INOFFENSIVE"

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah —(U.P.)— In the opinion of a Utah court, a parking meter is not a deadly weapon—nor even a dangerous one. A Salt Lake City resident sued the city for $5,000 damages to compensate for injuries suffered when he was blown into one of the sidewalk meters by a high wind. The jury decided it was an act of God.

World Changes Are Also Felt In Classrooms

NEW YORK —(INS)— Changes which have taken place in the world in recent years have had repercussions in the nation's classrooms, the annual report of Dr. Harold G. Campbell, superintendent of New York City's public schools, asserts.

Quoting an anonymous teacher, the report entitled "All the Children" says:

"The sweeping changes which have taken place in the outside world are reflected within our walls in a larger, more heterogeneous school body, an expanded and more varied curriculum, a shifting of the center in teaching from subject matter to a consideration of the nature and needs of the individual student, in a keener awareness of the human elements involved in real education."

The report said that the schools continue to stress the fundamentals of the three R's despite the changes and that scholastic standards have been maintained throughout the period of experimentation and development.

Multimillionaire Has $18 a Week Job on the Side

TULSA, Okla.—(INS)—Multimillionaire Willie Taylor, a Seminole Indian on whose land oil was struck in 1926, works in an oil station for $18 a week.

And, according to Willie's version of it, the world would be a better place if a few more millionaires took a turn now and then at swabbing windshields and filling gas tanks.

Although he is still a ward of the government, and only 24 years old, Willie's fortune is estimated at $8,000,000. His parents died when he was a child, and he supported himself while attending Dwight Indian Training School at Marble City, Okla.

After he became rich, he tried traveling, and visited all of the forty-eight states. But that became tiresome, so he rented a small apartment and started looking for a job. He found one—at $18 a week.

Consumpiton of scrap iron and steel in the United States during the first four months of this year totaled 17,518,000 tons, nearly 6,000,000 more than in the same period of 1940.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Pre-Trial Court System Proves Highly Effective

CHICAGO—(INS)—Less than one year's operation of the pre-trial court system, which attempt to settle cases through conciliation and agreement instead of by jury or other formal action, has convinced the municipal court of Chicago that the procedure speeds clearing of the court calendars and reduces expenses.

Because of the successful trial of the plan in Chicago a bill passed by the current Illinois Legislature makes pre-trial hearings applicable to all courts of the state, including the supreme court. If the governor signs the bill, Illinois will be the first state to have pre-trial courts throughout.

PLASTIC FIELD TO BE WIDENED

Technicians Seek New Method of Producing Materials From Surplus Products.

ALBANY, Cal.—(U.P.)—In the new $2,000,000 Western Regional Research Laboratory, approximately 50 technicians are conducting experiments from which it is hoped a new method for producing plastics and artificial fiber from agricultural surplus products will be developed.

The scientists even expect to produce waterproof glue and concentrated food from such products as chicken feathers, alfalfa, wheat and potatoes.

R. H. Nagel, technical assistant, said medicine will come in for its share of attention with anticipated experiments on chicken heads for glandular extracts.

Exemplary of the program are the alfalfa experiments. Alfalfa, Nagel said, is made up of two major components—pigments and proteins.

Pigments will be studied in an effort to divert them to use as pharmaceuticals and as soap-coloring. Protein studies will be carried on to try to isolate protein, native or altered, and to determine its composition.

The experiments are being conducted in 30 newly equipped rooms. Eventually, when all the 96 rooms are prepared, it is expected several hundred civil workers will be stationed at the laboratory.

Surplus products have been gathered in several states and are being held in cold storage, awaiting shipment to the plant as they are needed.

25 SCOUTS, LEADERS TO LEAVE SUNDAY FOR CANADIAN TRIP

Twenty-five Boy Scouts and leaders will leave Sunday at 4:30 a. m. for a 765-mile jaunt to Rat Lake in Quebec province, Canada, Floyd Dent, Johnny Appleseed Scout executive, announced today.

Dent said the camp was only open to 15-year or older boys who had earned their own money through the year and that the boys would spend 10 days on a camp site owned by persons interested in Scouting.

The entire trip will take 14 days because Dent plans to have the scouts and their leaders stop along the way to see interesting spots that will help the boys in their work.

This will be the third year that Mansfield scouts have gone to Rat Lake, but the first that the camp site has been owned by scouting enthusiasts, Dent continued

Mansfield boys taking the trip are Fred Elder, jr., James Curry, Douglas Bacon, Edward Arlin, Robert Pore, William Doolittle, Jack and William Daum, Charles Kenny, William Pecht, Robert Burns, John Mahoney and Mortan Frankel.

Five other campers from Shelby will also join the trip. They are Paul Robinson, David Lewis, Kenneth Troxell, Donald Cline and Eugene Killer.

James Ritchie of Lexington will also make the trip.

Five Mansfield men and one Ashland man will accompany the boys as leaders. They are C. I. Kimmel, Floyd Dent, Roger Godfrey, Jack Hurley and P. B. Pecht from Mansfield and Elwood McCracken from Ashland.

NEAR TRAGEDY

BERKELEY, Cal. —(U.P.)— A young married woman came to California from a section of the country where women still wear black stockings. She met California women and girls who wore no stocking, and laughed at her black ones. She swallowed poison, but quick medical assistance saved her life.

New York City has five sheriffs.

HEARINGS SET

Commissioners Schedule Dates For Protests on Roads.

County commissioners today had set hearings on proposals to vacate sections of two roads and to establish another in Worthington Township. All of them are in the Pleasant Hill lake area.

Hearing on the proposed abandonment of short sections of the Newville-Pleasant Hill road No. 375 and Newville-Perrysville road No. 374 will be at 10:30 a. m. on Aug. 29. One section is only 295 feet long and the other is one-tenth of a mile long.

The second proposal calls for extension of the McCurdy road for one-tenth mile from the intersection with the Newville-Perrysville road No. 374 to the Newville-Pleasant Hill road No. 375. The hearing will be at 10 a. m. Aug. 29.

MAYOR ALSO THE LAW

NEW ALBANY, Ind.—(U.P.)— Mayor Noble F. Mitchell keeps an eye out for business. Bound for his office, Mayor Mitchell noticed a truck violating a city traffic ordinance. He sent the law to make the arrest. An hour later, as city judge, Mayor Mitchell pronounced the fine—$2 and costs.

SCIENCE SEEKS LONGEVITY KEY TO GIANT TREE

'Post Mortem' Arranged Over Sequoia Felled By Storm In California.

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK, Cal.—(U.P.)—When the snow has melted early this summer from the 7,000-foot level of Sequoia National park, botanists and naturalists will try to determine what caused the death of one of the world's oldest living things.

The experts will come here to inspect a fallen Giant Sequoia tree which crashed during a storm in February.

An effort will be made to determine the age of the tree.

The tree, a mapestic Sequoia Gigantea, was 275 feet high and 27 feet in diameter at the base. The tree stood in the Giant Forest near winter headquarters of Sequoia park, but it was not named.

Botanists, naturalists and tree experts generally are anxious to learn more about the Sequoia Gigantea, which is found only in a limited area of the Sierra-Nevada mountains.

The falling of one of the majestic trees, which a U. S. forestry department survey showed was the most popular tree in America and therefore made the Sequoia the official tree of the United States, is considered highly unusual.and much interest is attached to the "post mortems."

In the past several years, a few Sequoias have fallen—not more than a dozen and none as large as the one that crashed last winter—but until a few years ago none of the trees had been known to fall over a long period of time.

Sequoias are the largest trees in the world. The General Sherman, a few miles from where the unnamed tree fell, is the largest tree in the world. It is 272.4 feet high with a diameter of 30.7 feet at the base. The General Grant tree, in the General Grant grove of Kings Canyon National park near Sequoia park, is perhaps the most famous Sequoia tree. The General Grant is known as the Nation's Christmas tree and each Christmas day for 15 years services have been conducted at the base of General Grant, symbolizing the nation's Christmas devotions.

Sequoias are the oldest living things on earth and the General Grant and General Sherman trees are estimated to be 5,000 years old, having started to grow hundreds of years before Christ was born.

Sequoias are extremely difficult to kill since they resist fire and are not known to be affected by insect pests. The wood, consequently, lasts almost indefinitely, even after a tree has fallen, and the trunks of giants that fell centuries ago still may be seen.

Johns Park Holds 27th Watermelon Festival Friday

Johns Park's 27th annual watermelon festival will be held at the park Friday starting at 6 p. m.

Highlights of the evening's program of entertainment will be the second in a series of tilts between Westinghouse and the All-Stars softball teams. The All-Stars took the opener 15-4.

Other entertainment scheduled for the evening includes specialty acts and dancing. Nearly 300 watermelons have been contracted for to make the annual celebration a real festival, according to Ed Wyllie, chairman of the program committee.

BABIES USED TO BLITZ

LIVERPOOL, Eng. —(U.P.)— Twenty-seven babies were put to bed in a children's home in a north-west town. The sirens sounded. Guns began to fire. Nazi raiders circled over head. Twenty-seven babies, cosily tucked away, slept on.

Crippled Mansfield Braves Swamped By Lima Pandas

After nearly six months of pondering the problem, Fremont high school's Little Giants finally have landed a football coach for the autumn campaign.

Ordinarily the naming of a coach at Fremont high would call for no more than a paragraph somewhere on the bottom of this page, but in this year 1941 the item is of particular interest to Mansfield for two good reasons.

The new coach, "Legs" Binkley, succeeds big Fred McClintock, former star athlete at Ashland college, former coach at Loudonville and Galion high schools, and referee of last spring's Richland county high school basketball tournament.

'Twas only last spring the grid season ended.
It seems that the season was merely suspended.

There are a few disgruntled fooball fans in Fremont today because of the leg-up given "Legs" Binkley, who was an assistant coach under McClintock.

They think Fremont should have gotten a "name" coach, since the Little Giants have to play a big-time schedule in order to bring in the dough necessary to conduct the rest of the school's athletic program.

But that isn't worrying Mr. Legs, who has called his squad for tomorrow to issue equipment, and has announced that practice will begin next Wednesday.

He has a big advantage over any new coach, name or no name, who might have been selected. He knows his players, and he won't lose games because of breaking in a new system.

They'll not start official practice until Sept. 2, but Mansfield's Tygers are all hyped up and rarin' to go.

* * *

Thirty-five Tygers turned out Tuesday night for a chat with Coach Paul Snyder on plans and prospects for the coming season, AND—:

What to do to get in shape before the practice sessions start!

Because they held spring practice the Tygers can't start the fall sessions before Sept. 2 under Ohio High School Athletic association rules. Teams that passed up the spring drills can start Aug. 20.

"I told them to start running every day to get their legs in shape for a tough season," says Snyder.

"And," he blandly adds, "since I didn't want them to injure their feet I issued shoes for them to run in."

This inching up on the starting gun is all right so long as the boys do not have coaching supervision.

Indians Purchase Gromek

Ex-Brave Shortstop Bought as Twirler.

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Southpaw Chubby Dean, the Indians' newest pitcher, drew the starting assignment against the Browns today as Manager Roger Peckinpaugh desperately sought to get his club off the skids. St. Louis nominated Johnny Niggeling.

Dean was purchased from Philadelphia, where he had a record of two victories and four defeats.

The tail-end Browns aimed for a clean sweep of the short series, having handed Cleveland its seventh defeat in eight games by taking yesterday's tussle, 9 to 3. Denny Galehouse stopped the Redskins with eight hits, pitching shutout ball after a three-run outburst in the first inning.

* * *

St. Louis pounded Joe Krakauskas and Clint Brown for seven runs in the third inning and then picked up two more off Harry Eisenstat and Jim Bagby.

Cleveland's big rally was featured by Lou Boudreau's double with the bases filled. The Tribe threatened only mildly after that.

In an effort to bolster the mound corps, the Tribe purchased Steve Gromek, rangy right-hander, from the Flint club of the Michigan State league. Winner of 14 games this season, he is slated to report in Chicago.

Gromek, former Mansfield Brave shortstop, turned pitcher last season and has had phenomenal success. He helped pitch Flint to a victory over the Cleveland Indians in an exhibition game this season, and he was the winning flinger for Flint in the game against the Michigan State league All Stars.

Ken Jungels, another right-hander used in relief roles, was sold to Wilkes-Barre of the Eastern league to make room for Gromek.

The tangle in the National league is as hopeless of an early solution as a six-day bicycle race on the first day.

Last night the Cardinals crashed 3-2 in 10 innings at Cincinnati as the Dodgers drummed out a 7-2 triumph over the Phillies to narrow Cards' margin to half a game—where the matter is bound to rest today because neither team is scheduled.

The Cardinals gave young Mort Cooper a 1-0 lead in the fifth inning but Ernie Lombardi took it away from him with a two-run homer in the seventh. Then Johnny Mize slapped out a circuit blow in the eighth to tie the score.

In the tenth Rightfielder Johnny Hopp missed a shoestring catch and let a liner by Eddie Joost get by him for a triple. Then after two intentional passes loaded the bases, Frank McCormick singled the winning run across.

The Dodgers had no such trouble. Dolph Camilli, the current homer king of the senior circuit, notched his 23rd with two on in the third inning and Curt Davis coasted to victory on six-hit pitching.

In another National league night game the Chicago Cubs sent the Pittsburgh Pirates sprawling to their third straight defeat, 6-4, for their longest losing streak in seven weeks. Johnny Lanning rolled up to the ninth inning with a 4-1 lead, but a walk and two errors blew the game wide open and the Bruins scored five runs.

The New York Giants and Boston Braves divided a doubleheader. Babe Young sparked the Giants to a five-run lead in the first three frames of the opener by getting two doubles, one with the bases loaded, and New York made it last for a 7-6 victory. Then Lefty Art Johnson pitched a seven-hit affair for a 3-1 triumph in the nightcap.

In the American league the New York Yankees also split a bargain bill with the Washington Senators, but even so managed to gain another half game on the futile Cleveland Indians.

The Yanks were whipped in their first game 5-3, but had no trouble taking the second session 5-1 on the fire-hit hurling of Marvin Breuer.

The Indians were walloped 9-3 by the St. Louis Browns. Dennis Galehouse held the Tribe to seven hits and contributed three singles himself in St. Louis' 16-hit bombardment of four Cleveland hurlers. Seven of the Browns' runs were bunched in a rollicking third inning that took all the fight out of the Indians.

This spurred the Boston Red Sox to a 4-0 conquest of the Philadelphia Athletics in a night game that lifted Boston within a game and a half of second place.

Buck Newsom came through with a six-hit pitching performance to steer the Detroit Tigers to a 4-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Geiger Hurls No-Hit Tilt

Gives Athletic Supplies First Tourney Game.

Aid Geiger, pitching no-hit and near perfect ball sparked the Athletic Supplies to a 5-0 win over the Cicco's Tavern club of Vermillion, in their first round game of the district tournament under the Brookside Park lights at Ashland.

Issuing only two walks in separate innings to batters with a three-two count on both, no Vermillion batsman reached second base.

While Geiger was mowing down the Taverns, 1941 Lorain county runners-up, his mates collected four hits off the offerings of Worth, three of which were doubles.

Geiger accounted for two of the four Mansfield hits and missed a perfect time at bat only when the official score keeper ruled his hard hit ball to second base in the second inning was an error.

This was followed by John Webers lusty two bagger out of the park which ground rules kept from being a home run as Weber followed Geiger home before West had retrieved the ball.

In the fifth with one out Al Stickler laced a double to left, Nick Weber walked and Geiger drove both across the platter with a well placed double to right.

In the sixth Patterson walked, stole second, and went to third on Nick Webers long fly. Geiger drove him home with line drive single to end the scoring.

It was Geigers night at Ashland, 13 batters going down on strikes, and only one ball going out of the infield, a short fly to Stickler at rover.

In the first game the Lorain CIO team defeated the Loudonville Rovers 8-5, after stopping a seventh inning rally in which the Rovers scored 4 runs.

The Supplies meet the Lorain CIO next Monday at 7.30 in the second round game.

Amateurs Start Scramble For National Golf Crown

By HARRY FERGUSON

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—This is the day when 603 of them start firing all over the country in the annual scramble for a starting place in the National Amateur Golf championship, and it would be nice if something sensational could happen this year to save what used to be a top-flight sports event from becoming ho-hum stuff.

The best thing that could happen would be for another Bobby Jones to emerge from some obscure corner of the nation. To tell the truth, the amateur hasn't been any great shakes since Jones delivered his grand slam of the British and American amateur and open tournaments and then, quite sensibly, retired.

When he left, most of the color and the glamor of the amateur left with him. It was "Jones against the field," in those days and, win or lose, the galleries turned out to see him.

If you don't think the amateur has gone down hill since then, walk up to any golfer and ask him to name the last five amateur champions for you. It's six, two and even that he can't do it, and it's the same that you can't do it. Having just looked it up, I shall now flash my erudition and tell you that they were Richard D. Chapman, Marvin Ward, Willie Turnesa, Johnny Goodman and Johnny Fischer.

One trouble with the amateur is that the pros have stolen the show. A dazzling array of pros have come up since Jones quit—Snead, Nelson, Hogan, Metz, Lloyd Mangrum and McSpaden. After watching those babies commit manslaughter and first and second degree murder on par, your average golf nut can't get too excited about the amateurs.

The amateurs can't stand the hot pace. Occasionally one of them comes up with one good round in the open, but on those last hot, mad 18 holes on Saturday afternoon the simon-pure boys wilt and the cool, steel-nerved pros are left on the battle field alone. Not since 1933, when Johnny Goodman won by one stroke at North Shore, has an amateur taken the open.

This year the tournament will be played at Omaha, practically in Goodman's back yard, and a victory by Johnny would be both popular and a good thing for the tournament. It would recall his sensational victory over Jones in another amateur tournament and would bring back a well-liked and familiar face to the pictures that show the winner holding a big cup and grinning.

Plymouth Wins At Willard

The Plymouth Locomotives defeated a Willard V. F. W. ball club 7-1 behind four hit hurling of Owens at the dedication exercises of the new stadium at Willard yesterday.

Hitting stars of the Plymouth victory were D. Nesbitt and Don Dawson. Dawson drove in two runs and scored three out of five trips to the platter, while Nesbitt splashed out two doubles and a triple in four trips.

Approximately 1,500 persons attended the fray highlight of Willard's homecoming day which saw Owens in command all the way. Willard picked up its lone marker in the eighth.

The Locomotives meet the V. F. W. club in a return match at Willard Sunday at 3 p. m.

JUNIOR LEGION PLAYERS IN REGIONAL PLAY-OFF

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Champion American Legion Boys' baseball teams from three states opened a three-day regional play-off here today aiming for a chance to compete in sectional semi-finals opening at Charlotte, N. C., next Wednesday.

A schedule made last night pitted Cincinnati's Bentley post team, Ohio champion, against Belle, W. Va., this morning and the loser against Flint, Mich., this afternoon. The tournament is conducted on a two-lost-and-out basis.

Braves Book Galion Game

Play Findlay Oilers During County Fair Week.

County faired out of their home games next week with Findlay and Lima, the Mansfield Braves have scheduled Findlay at Galion Wednesday night, and are making efforts to book Tiffin at Norwalk Friday night.

What they'll do about the Lima game here Saturday night of next week has not yet been determined. Midget auto races booked for the three nights of the Richalnd fair continue through Saturday night.

The Findlay game is being sponsored by the live-wire Galion Junior Association of Commerce which had the Mansfield club at Heise park for a game on the night of July 4, and later brought the Fremont Green Sox to Galion for a game with the St. Louis Browns.

The Mansfield-Findlay game will have the appeal of being a league game and "for keeps."

Pat Patterson, Braves hurler, who found the going rather rocky Tuesday night when he took his sore arm to the hill against Tiffin, has gone home to Detroit for further treatment of the ailing flipper. He told his mates he'd be back if his arm got better.

Eddie Mutryn, home in Cleveland with a broken finger, has sent word he expects to be back in uniform in a week. He says he can wiggle the diget, and he hopes he'll be able to grip a bat before the Ohio State league season closes.

Hurlers Saved as Foe Runs Up 26 to 3 Score

Siegbert and Salem Try Hand At Pitching in Wild Game

MANSFIELD BRAVES last night played their first bad ball game of the season, dropping a 26 to 3 decision at Lima.

It wasn't entirely the Braves' fault the score mounted to the 26 mark. With their six-man hurling staff of most of the season now reduced to four, and one of them with a sore arm, the Mansfield club wasn't taking any chances on using up the entire mound corps for the sake of stopping Lima in one game.

First Sacker Harry Siegbert went to the mound in the fourth inning after the Pandas had taken a 9 to 1 lead on Lefty Bob Kuzava, and Centerfielder Bill Salem took the hill in the eighth during an eight-run Lima splurge.

Tim Mangan, who has a sore hand from long and continuous work behind the plate, was given a rest in the third inning and Manager Alex Clowson went back of the bat.

Lima got 24 hits during the melee, helped along by four bases on balls off Kuzava, one off Siegbert, and three off Salem, and by five Mansfield errors.

The only bright spot for Mansfield was the fact that the Braves were still in there trying, although badly swamped, and managed to push over a marker as late as the eighth inning.

The Braves collected 13 hits and got two bases on balls off Bosky, but had 11 runners stranded on bases.

Fremont won two games from Tiffin and stretched its lead over the second place Braves to five and a half games.

Jim Coleman, who has done yeoman work in the past week in holding up a tottering mound staff, probably will go to the hill against Lima tonight at the Fairground.

Mentors Turn Cold-Shoulder To "Freshmen Gridders" Plea

By DON SMITH

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Athletic directors and coaches of Ohio colleges are two to one against temporary relaxation of the rule barring freshmen from varsity sports competition, a poll by the United Press disclosed today.

The powers-that-be in Buckeye college sports turn a cold shoulder to the pleas of coaches in many institutions for permission to play freshmen during the coming school year to fill the gaps left by the heavy toll of athletes taken by the draft.

On the other hand, there is a vociferous minority which think some relief should be given schools of small enrollment whose athletic squads, football in particular, will be pared almost to a playing minimum this fall.

Marietta, Ashland, Toledo, John Carroll, and Findlay favor a change in the freshman rule this fall while Muskingum, Capital, Xavier, Western Reserve, Kenyon, Denison, Alliance, Kent State and Ohio Northern oppose any revision.

Some opinion was expressed that a revision in the rule may have to be made at a later date if the current emergency continues.

"I am entinrely opposed to any conference teams using freshmen this fall," said Tom Rogers, veteran Denison university mentor, although he already has lost two valuable men in End Bill Edwards of New York City and Center Art Staddon of Dayton, O.

"Possibly if conditions continue for another year, some such action will eventually become necessary," Rogers said.

W. J Livingston, Denison athletic director, is not in favor of any Ohio conference school using freshmen.

"A school that says they are going to play freshmen will probably have to drop out of the conference," Livingston asserted.

Kenyon College Athletic Director R. J. Kutler replied, "I am not in favor of using freshmen at the present time. It may be that the situation will become as difficult as some of the men try to believe at this time, and we may have to come to it."

In the case of smaller schools, where they have a very limited enrollment, it would be better to play freshmen than to give up football, in the opinion of Karl Davis, athletic director at Western Reserve in Cleveland.

* * *

"But we have considered nothing like this at Western Reserve," Davis stated. "Even if I favored such a policy, which I am not saying I do at our school, I am not sure our authorities would approve."

Faced with the possiblity of having only 11 men report for football, Frank Lanero, athletic director and football coach at Ashland college, naturally favored the use of freshmen.

"Three years ago we had only 14 men on our squad," Lanero said. "Two years ago we had 17, last year we had 21 but this year we will be lucky if we have 11 left after the draft takes them."

Clem Crowe, who directs the athletic policies at Xavier university, said, "I do not see why such an important rule should be waived because of a temporary situation Key players might be lost through other causes and no issue would be made of it. Certainly with a 21-year age limit on the draft there should be enough boys remaining in college to play good football."

Paul Davidson, Capital university coach, replied that "I believe a true picture of the situation would reveal that most colleges are affected equally by the draft. I see no reason for playing freshmen. We have been talking about more participation for the average athlete and certainly here is our chance to put this theory into action."

Nelson Jones, Findlay college athletic director, favors over-riding the freshman rule for the period of the emergency, thus saving the school's standing during the time of the draft demands.

Dr. Clarence W. Spears, athletic director of Toledo university, and John Carroll's athletic director and coach, Tom Conley, both favor a change in the freshman rule.

Others opposed to any revision are Athletic Director Harris Lamb of Ohio Northern and Athletic Director G. D Starn of Kent State

Prison "Boys" Start Series

Softball Teams Settle Ohio Championship.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The "boys" at the Ohio penitentiary today forgot about even their prospects for paroles.

They were concerned with one thing—the first of a three-game series Saturday between the Ohio pen and London prison farm softball teams for the "Ohio prison championship."

Superintendent William F. Amrine's London prison farm team alias the "Amrine Angels," has won 13 games, lost two and tied two against "outside" talent.

Warden Frank D Henderson's team dubbed "Henderson's Hurricanes" has won 34, lost four and tied three against some of the best opposition in the state.

On the mound for the Angels in the series opener will be Ed (Fireball) Kelley who has hurled the Angels to 28 victories this year while losing only two. Included in Kelley's performances are two no-hitters and 10 shutouts.

Either Jim Hamilton or Frank Hanckney will do the tossing for the Hurricanes. Hackney's record shows 18 wins and two defeats while Hamilton has won 16 against one defeat.

Marksmen Set For Handicap

Trapshooters Start Vandalia Trek Early.

VANDALIA—(U.P.)—Although no titles will be decided this weekend, the nation's foremost trapshooters started to arrive here today for the 42nd annual Grand American handicap.

More than 1,000 of the country's ranking scattergun artists will blast away at an estimated 865,000 clay pigeons to mark the 18th time the "world series of trap-shooting" will be held at Vandalia.

Preliminary firing will get under way tomorrow but the first title will be decided Sunday with the holding of the Vandalia open handicap for amateurs and professionals.

Placing his "Grand" title on the block this year will be E. H. Wolfe of Charleston, W. Va., who captured the crown last year with 98 hits in 100 targets at a distance of 23 yards.

Rated as one of the favorites to wrest the title from the Charleston sharpshooter is Walter Beaver of Conshohocken, Pa., who is the top average shooter in the nation. He won the "Grand" in 1933.

Only state champions are permitted to compete in the battle for the title of "Champion of Champions." The championship carries a minimum award of $1,000, which plus optionals and trophies makes for an estimated purse of $10,000. Twenty-one titles will be decided at the five-day meeting.

Ring Battles.

"Ringside Maisie," Ann Sothern's starring vehicle showing at the Ohio, is punctuated with a series of ring battles in which Maxie Rosenbloom appears. The story revolves around Maisie's latest adventure that takes her into the lives of a young boxer, his invalid mother and his hardboiled manager. She falls in love with the manager played by George Murphy and helps the fighter, Robert Sterling, with his romantic intentions towards Natalie Thompson. 'Rags" Ragland, from the original cast of "Panama Hattie," makes his debut in the picture as a comedian.

Colorful Locale.

"Navy Blue and Gold," the current attraction at the Madison, has its locale at colorful Annapolis and its cast is headed by James Stewart, Robert Young and Lionel Barrymore. Florence Rice and Billie Burke are also featured. Leon Errol has the lead in "Hurry Charlie Hurry," the second picture.

Wallace Beery's picture "The Bad Man," based on the famous stage play by the same name is showing at the Ritz. Lionel Barrymore, Laraine Day and Ronald Reagan are in the cast. The three Mesquiteers are featured in "Saddle Mates," the second picture.

Comedy With Music.

An eccentric millionaire whose food products are poorly advertised is put on the pan while his products are placed on the map in "Pot O'Gold," comedy with music, showing at the Park. Produced by James Roosevelt the picture teams James Stewart and Paulette Goddard in the romantic story of the daughter of a boarding house keeper and the proprietor of a small town music shop. Horace Heidt's band furnishes the music and the cast includes Charles Winninger. Johnny Mack Brown stops the Indians and outlaw attacks hampering mail delivery in "Pony Express," the second picture.

Cops Glorified.

Dramatizing the adventures of radio car patrolmen, "The Officer and the Lady," opening Friday at the Majestic, presents Bruce Bennett and Rochelle Hudson in the title roles. Two-fisted action takes place when the girl is stolen by an escaped convict, played by Sidney Blackmer, and the law takes to the trail. Roger Pryor and Oscar O'Shea are in the cast. Wild horse stampedes and torrential floods furnish excitement in "Thunder Over the Prairie," the second film with Charles Starrett.

SEA MEETING HALTS STOCK MART TRADING

Crowds Gather Around News Tickers To Read About 8-Point Program.

NEW YORK — Leading stocks acted as though they wanted to break out on the upside in today's market but most failed to attract much support.

Business in Wall Street virtually came to a standstill as crowds surrounded the news tickers to read of the momentous meeting at sea of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill and their statement of an 8-point program for the United States and Britain.

Broadrooms scanned the survey of the Engineering News-Record which disclosed the recent sharp upward swing in heavy building activities was beginning to flatten somewhat.

The review estimated construction contracts for the week ended Tuesday at more than double the volume in the comparable 1940 period but 61 per cent under the near-record dollar aggregate registered in the preceding week.

OMISSION SEEN AS SIGNIFICANT

Japs Sure FDR and Churchill Talked About Them, Since They Weren't Mentioned.

belief that, although the eight points dealt mainly with general phrases, Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill also probably agreed on:

1. The precise moment when the British and American governments would discard passive resistance for action against Japan.

2. Mutual use of British and United States bases in the South Pacific — presumably Singapore, Manila and others.

3. A request to Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin to open a northern front in the Far East with a Siberian army of 1,000,000 men if war should break out in the South Pacific.

It was said that the assumed presence of United States Lease-Lend Administrator Harry L. Hopkins at the meeting "assured a full and complete picture of the Russians' war needs, not only on one front but in Siberia if necessary."

Hopkins recently met several times with Premier Stalin in Moscow. News of the meeting was broadcast by radio to Britain by Lord Privy Seal Clement Atlee, who has been acting as Churchill's deputy in his absence.

With the entire nation warned a day ahead of time to stand by for a "momentous announcement" dealing with the war effort, radios in millions of homes and in offices and shops were tuned to the broadcast.

RUPTURED

If You Are Suffering With a Hernia, It is Important That You Have the Correct Truss

SEE THE DOBBS TRUSS

● BULBLESS ● BELTLESS ● STRAPLESS

It holds the rupture up and in with a CONCAVE PAD by bringing the muscles together, a cross body pressure just like you hold the rupture up and in with your hand. This gives nature a chance to heal the weakened muscles and give you permanent relief. IT IS A HEALTH TRUSS. It is also sanitary, can be worn while bathing or swimming. Just common reason should convince anyone not to place a bulb, ball or any convex pad in the rupture opening thus spreading the weakened muscles further apart.

Every person who is suffering with a hernia should see THIS TRUSS. L. S. Dobbs, Hernia Specialist, will be here again—
